Indiana Will Operate Mines; Settlement Probable in Anthracite Fields.

ment of the Illinois Miners' strike faded today when Frank Farrington, state president of the Illinois Miners' Union, announced abandonment of the district convention called to meet at Peoria, August 3. Farrington today also wired Acting Governor Sterling of Illinois that the proposals submitted by the executive yesterday as a means of terminating the strike were impractical and the state executive board meeting here would take no action on them.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS IN ANTHRACITE AREA.
POTTSVILLE, Pa., July 27 (By International News Service).—Important developments leading to the possible settlement of the anthracite coal strike are occurring in the conference of the mayors of the anthracite region cities. Mayor Bearstler of this city said today that representatives of the miners have agreed that the diggers shall return to work at the present wage scale instead of pressing the demands for a 20 per cent increase, which means a concession of $50,000,000 a year.

They also have agreed not to press the demands of a change in working hours, which makes a further concession from their previous demands of $70,000,000 per year.

EMERGENCY AREA MAY EXTEND OVER WEST.
WASHINGTON, July 27.—(United Press).—The sweeping orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission to control the distribution and prices of fuel, food and other necessities may be extended to the territory between the Mississippi river and the Rocky mountains, according to authoritative statement here today.

Reports from the great farming region indicated that many utilities soon will be out of coal and that a serious shortage will occur this winter unless supplies are soon sent.

COAL OUTPUT JUMPS 4000 CARS IN 2 DAYS.
WASHINGTON, July 27.—(By the Associated Press).—Favorable reaction to the government's efforts to stimulate coal production despite the miners' strike was seen today in figures assembled by the railroads showing that 13,083 cars of coal were loaded on Monday at operating mines as compared with 9860 cars last Saturday, and with a daily average of 10,914 cars during the six working days previous to Saturday.

FIRST OPERATIONS IN PENNSYLVANIA START.
CANONSBURG, Pa., July 27.—Under heavy guard, the first actual production of soft coal in the strike-closed mines of southwestern Pennsylvania began today at Montour mine No. 4, Hills Station. Although sniping was reported during the night, actual work was begun without any demonstration of any kind from the striking miners.

Harding Plans Rehearing If Men Return to Work

WASHINGTON, July 27.—President Harding yesterday called upon the railway employees' publicity association to urge the striking shopmen to return to work. He declared he would join in asking the Railway Labor Board to reconsider any plans of its recent wage decision "on which there is any reasonable doubt."

The President's pronouncement was telegraphed to J. C. Dean, chairman of the association. It was in reply to a telegram from Dean, who made a vitriolic attack upon Harding's handling of the strike situation. He accused the President of attempting to thrust "involuntary servitude" upon the people, and predicted a war between capital and labor as a result.

To these assertions the President replied, dispassionately, but with grim emphasis. He dismissed Dean's political attack with: "I can only treat your politically partisan references with the contempt which is felt by every good citizen in the hour of deep public concern."

DRAFT CHARGE DENIED.
The President continued: "No one has attempted or proposed to draft free men into either the railway or the mining service, or suggested coercion under military force. The military forces of free America are never used for such a purpose. Their service is only that of preventing lawlessness and violence. The same uncompromising freedom which permits you and your associates to decline to work is no less the heritage of the free American who chooses to accept employment under the terms proposed."

The President then reviews at length the steps he has taken to bring about a settlement of the rail and coal strikes, and of the conference with the coal operators that led to the President's invitation to them to return and operate their properties, under protection. He adds: "This protection applies alike to the men on strike who observe the law and make no lawless interference with men at work, and to the men who are lawfully at work and entitled to protection by every agency of Government in that work. If you mean to challenge the righteousness of free men to be protected in their lawful pursuits against interference and violence, I will be glad to join you in submitting that question to the decision of the American people."

PEACE AND JUSTICE.
Ending, the President stated: "If you are the believer in peace and harmony and the reign of justice which you would have me believe, I invite you now to pass judgment on the failure of the mine workers to accept the awards of an able and impartial commission in determining the merits of the dispute between coal miners and coal operators, and I invite you to urge the railway workmen to accept the decision of the American Railroad Labor Board, acting under the authority of the law which must be supreme and return to work under that decision, until you and I and everyone else interested in American welfare, may join in asking the Railroad Labor Board to give a rehearing on any question concerning which there is reasonable doubt about the correctness of the decision made."

"These are the ways of peace, these are the requirements of an enlightened civilization, these are the things expected by your government of its loyal and law-abiding citizenship."

S. P. Shop Guards To Face Arrests

ROSEVILLE, July 27.—Warrants for the arrest of three Southern Pacific guards charging them with firing at J. Lilley, local laundry proprietor, while the latter was in his garage, were to be issued today by Judge Melvin Stone. It was announced last night by Sheriff Elmer Gum that the men will be arrested as soon as the warrants are issued. Gum said, as they have made no effort to escape.

Ten shots were fired through a window of the building, but none of them took effect. The guards are understood to have explained that they thought they saw four men in the building, which is near the shops. Women who have been stationed as pickets near the shops for the last two days have desisted from the practice on an ultimatum issued by Deputy United States Marshal E. J. Mulvey that arrests would be made if they did not return to their homes.

Buffalo Cars Dented By Strike Fusillade

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 27.—With windows broken and bodies dented, the night cars operated by the International Railway Company were run into the barns this morning after having undergone an apparently systematic bombardment by striking employees and sympathizers. Scarcely a car escaped unscratched.

Fired Upon Train, Charges Deputy

SAN BERNARDINO, July 27.—When the Santa Fe train carrying workers for the railroad shops here Monday slowed down in response to a torpedo signal which had been placed on the track, two masked and armed men appeared on the right of way, threatened to "get" the engineer, and one of them shot at the conductor as he stood on the steps of a coach, according to United States Deputy Marshal O. S. Greenwood, who made known the result of his investigation upon his return from Los Angeles yesterday. Marshal Greenwood said that he had learned that the train had been followed by men in automobiles for some distance before it reached Highland Junction, where the torpedo had been placed on the track.

Western Pacific Asks Injunction

SACRAMENTO, July 27.—Attorneys for the Western Pacific Railroad company filed in federal district court here today an application for a temporary restraining order directed against the striking shopmen. The application was taken to San Francisco, where, it was said, the federal court would be asked to set a date for a hearing.

ate their way half way up the side of the mountain, it was said.

Many farm houses and summer homes were directly in the path of the flames. Two unoccupied homes in Mitchell's Canyon were burned to the ground, and the houses on the Charles Winter's ranch near Concord were razed.

The fire is believed to have started about noon yesterday on the Brubeck ranch, now used by the Cowell Lime & Cement Company, located about a mile from the western base of the mountain. Residents of the towns of Clayton, Danville and Concord, who were unable to fight the blaze, remained awake all night, afraid to go to bed lest their homes burn. All were ready to move at a moment's notice.

BERKELEY, July 27.—Between ten and fifteen acres of pine trees grass fire which started on "Little Grizzly," burned its way to Grizzly Peak, and kept fire fighters busy for two hours battling the flames. E. P. Twenty men did efficient work in keeping the fire from spreading to residential portions of the city.

Thirst Forces Besieged Maniac To Surrender

HINTON, W. Va., July 27.—John Fredeking, an insane man who barricaded in his house and for thirteen days resisted the efforts of deputy sheriffs and state police to arrest him after he had killed one man and wounded four others, this morning appeared at the front door, threw up his hands and asked for a drink of water.

Two troopers, who with other officers, have resorted to every known means, short of firing the house, to dislodge Fredeking, stepped up to the door, got him the water he craved, and then led him to the county jail. He refused to answer their questions and appeared to be dazed. Physicians were summoned from the Hinton Hospital, where they had been treating the man wounded in the firing of the past days, and dressed a bullet wound in Fredeking's right arm and another injury to his right shoulder.

Tchenoff that their conviction and execution is certain because the tribunal consists entirely of communists.

EX-GOVERNOR OF KANSAS HAS ROW WITH H. J. ALLEN

Walter Roscoe Stubbs Holds Verbal Controversy With Present Executive.

TOPEKA, Kas., July 27.—Walter Roscoe Stubbs, former governor of Kansas, and candidate for nomination to that office again, yesterday sent a telegram to Governor Henry J. Allen, asking him to issue a statement in which the governor is reported to have said that Stubbs, during a strike when he was governor, checked the matter up with Alexander Howat, then president of the Kansas miners' union, with the result that no coal was mined.

"Within one hour from the time demands for militia reached the governor's office, I had an agreement with the miners to obey the law, which they did during the strike to the extent that not a single complaint reached the governor's office thereafter."

Governor Allen replied tonight, in substance, that it was an easy matter to deal with Howat, "if you gave him his own way."

REXFORD, Kas., July 27.—John W. Newson, pastor of the Community church here, will announce from his pulpit Sunday that he is 51 per cent in favor of the striking railroad men, he said yesterday. Newson said that he had written Richard J. Hopkins, attorney-general, saying that he was "especially and expressly in sympathy with Kansas strikers, where they are subject to the provisions of the industrial court which attempts to determine, by judicial fiat, matters that are essentially political and ought to be determined only by the freest play of public opinion."

School Site Action By Board Is Speeded

The board of education will meet in special session this evening to decide the final fate of a lot opposite Manzanita school, owned by the Gray estate, which must be purchased quickly for school extension or assessed by the street department for about $16,000 worth of paving.

A street now runs through the property. The street is untimely. The property has been desired for Manzanita school extensions, but suddenly the street department announces its intention to pave the street. If bought by the school department, the latter can acquire and close the street, making a big Manzanita school ground. If the property is not bought now, the paving starts Saturday.

Many Hear Woman Evangelist

AIMEE SEMPLE McPHERSON, woman evangelist, who is speaking to record audiences every day at the tent-tabernacle on Twenty-sixth street.

ATTENDANCE AT REVIVAL GROWS AT EACH SERVICE

Altar Calls and Audiences at McPherson Tent-Tabernacle Make Record.

By FRANK B. SCHUMANN.

Altar calls and audiences at both the afternoon and evening revival meetings at the tent-tabernacle on Twenty-sixth street, where the Aimee Semple McPherson revival meetings are being held, yesterday eclipsed all those held previously during the last ten days. The tent was crowded at both services and many hundreds stood around the outside edge unable to get in. At the close of both sermons hundreds flocked to the altar, many announcing it was for the first time.

The preparatory meetings which were started at the beginning of the campaign are being kept up, with many of the worshippers never leaving the tent from early morning until late at night after the close of the evening service.

The ministers, evangelists, church and Sunday school workers and laymen interested in the furtherance of evangelism and the Four Square Gospel as it is preached by Mrs. McPherson met for the final session of a three-day conference this morning. This conference has been discussing all phases of the evangelistic work and the carrying on of this work in this section after the close of the present revival.

TARRYING MEETINGS. The three days' meetings of the conference was held at the Trinity Episcopal church. Special tarrying services were held this morning at 8 o'clock. Ministers and evangelists held a tarrying service at the Trinity church and at the same time a group of the Echo Park chair holders and laymen held a tarrying meeting at the tent.

Scores have already presented their applications and more are coming in each day for the baptismal service which is to be held Monday afternoon at Idora Park. Preparations are being made for a special children's service on Saturday morning when the children are to have a special service of their own. Tomorrow afternoon the old folks' meeting will be held, which Dodge, attorney for the thousands who attended the old folks' meeting last Friday afternoon.

Rev. George D. Boller of the Baptist church of Eureka offered the opening prayer of yesterday afternoon's service. The church choir quartet offered several vocal selections, and R. Burnell gave a baritone solo.

TESTIMONIAL SERVICE. A testimonial service both as to divine healing and salvation was held previous to the sermon. Mrs. McPherson spoke on "Esther before the King, or How to Get Our Petitions Answered."

"We can get our whole petitions answered if we go about it properly," stated Mrs. McPherson. "God won't hold out on us."

"There isn't a one of us so dried up that we need still throughout the service without an amen or a hallelujah, when we are hearing the word of the Lord."

"Many of us have been feasting on the real wine of the Holy Spirit, but when the opportunity has afforded itself I have been holding little worldly feasts of our own."

"Many of us have our trials and I believe that half of this life is composed of heartaches and bitter experiences and the other half of joys and pleasant experiences. I believe that both are necessary to make us just right and we enjoy our pleasant experiences more if we have had a few bitter ones at some other time."

"I believe that many of us are on this world for some special purpose and I believe that my object upon this world is to bring back the power of the Holy Ghost to the Denominational church."

MANY ARE CARELESS. "There are so many of us who want to see our loved ones saved and ready but we go about it in a careless off-hand sort of way and are ready to give up and give any hard thinking or to suffer any real hardships to help fulfill our wishes. Don't try to get your prayers in worldliness and sin but come on into the inner court."

The life and experiences of Esther before her King and the preparations she made to appear before him were compared throughout the sermon to the life and experiences of the Christian church. She pointed out that there was too much asking and not enough praising in the church of today, and that too many assumed to be Christians just for what they could get out of it themselves. She stated that the life of a true Christian was one of giving instead of asking.

The evening service was opened with prayer by Rev. B. C. Miller of the First Baptist church of Ashland, Oregon. Rev. J. W. Edgell of the Methodist church of Sonoma gave a testimonial as to the power of divine healing which he stated he had observed in his own family. Musical numbers were rendered by the choir of over three hundred, and a duet was also presented.

PLAN OF REDEMPTION. Mrs. McPherson spoke on "The Plan of Redemption."

"My idea of a real minister of the gospel," she stated, "is not one who can paint oratorical pictures and has a string of letters behind his name, but one who can speak in a direct, simple way and make his audience see the message he is presenting instead of the speaker," she continued.

She presented the story of the creation of man, his fall, and his exile from the Garden of Eden, and later the coming of Christ and the redemption of the sinner as it is presented in the Bible. She pointed out that many people of today were attempting to hide behind leafy excuses, just as Adam and Eve did after they had eaten of the forbidden fruit, and that the Siamese twins of darkness, temptation and sin were continually standing behind us.

"I believe every event and story of the Bible just as it is written," she stated. "The Old Testament is true from beginning to end," she continued.

SERVICE FOR WOMEN. "Jesus was tempted in the same way that we are being tempted today: in eating, obtaining worldly possessions by crooked dealings; to gain popularity and by a half low way, but no matter how we want to be popular, Jesus was the victor over his temptations and

WHITNEY NUPTIAL PACT REPORTED

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—Beginning what she has excused, because her lips had been sealed by her attorneys, Evan Burrows Fontaine, Oriental dancer and Broadway star, today refused to either confirm or deny reports from the east that in 1919 she and Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, against whom she is said to have filed suit to establish the maternity of her 18-months old baby boy, had entered into a common law marriage agreement.

While she had a long distance telephone talk with her attorney, Charles Firestone, and he has instructed me not to comment further on the case, she said.

While the New York dancer went through her rehearsal for the new musical comedy in which she will star this fall, it was revealed that the two as yet unnamed songs which Miss Fontaine will sing in the new production might as well be given titles forthwith.

One should be known as "You Never Can Tell," the other, "For She's a Very Pretty Girl."

With "Be Careful, Dearie," already decided on as the title of the third vocal offering, the trinity is duly named.

Miss Fontaine was informed that Marie Norton's pictures had arrived in Los Angeles. Miss Norton is the 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan S. Norton of New York, and her engagement to young Whitney was announced only a few weeks ago.

"Do print it," she cried, "for she's a very, very pretty girl."

Shop Worker Says Foreman Struck Him

Joseph Morris, an employee of the Southern Pacific company at the shops in West Oakland, was treated for cranial injuries at the Emergency hospital today following an alleged argument with the foreman, C. C. Caldwell, over Morris' intention of quitting.

According to the story told by Morris to the state police he expressed an intention of leaving the shops and in the argument that ensued was struck by Caldwell and knocked unconscious. Morris resided at 575 Fifth street, this city.

Bakery Wrecked By Gas Explosion

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—The bakery and lunch parlor at 220 Market street was wrecked and Henry Krieg, 34-year-old baker, was painfully burned in an explosion at 5:30 this morning. Four plate-glass windows, two on Market street and two on California street, where the place has a second entrance, were shattered. Krieg explained that he had started to light the oven when accumulated gas exploded. He was thrown ten feet. A second employee escaped injury.

gave us a thrill of glory by which to judge our own actions.

"There are storms in the lives of man, personal, family and business storms, but if Jesus is permitted to enter he will quiet the storms as he did the storm when he was on the sea with the disciples. Jesus not only bore our sin, but he bore our sickness and the thorns and thistles as well."

"The plan of redemption will be concluded with a new Adam and a new Eve. Jesus will be the new Adam and Eve will be the church which will be the new bride of Adam. They will enter a new Garden of Eden, which will be eternally. No matter how far away you may have drifted you still have an opportunity to come back and share in this."

Dr. W. K. Towner, pastor of the First Baptist church of San Jose, offered the closing prayer of the service.

A special section of the tent is to be reserved for working women and the regular service is to be cut short so that a special service may be held for the women afterwards.

GIRL BATTLES THUGS; ESCAPES

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Mable Vagtas, a waitress of 124 Turk street, was attacked by two men on the Great Highway near the beach, early today and escaped only after a fight with her assailants, during which she scratched and tore at their faces, all the while screaming for aid.

According to the story told by the young woman at the Central emergency hospital, she met the couple at a Mason street cafe and they invited her to a beach resort. A dispute arose and she left, walking along the boulevard. Suddenly the two men seized her and dragged her into the brush. After she had succeeded in escaping she was taken to the Central emergency hospital, where painful bruises caused by her assailants were dressed.

14 DAYS IN JAIL SWAYS RANCHER; PAYS ALIMONY

Thomas Garcia, Decoto rancher, was liberated today from the Alameda county jail, where for 14 days he had been trying to make up his mind to pay his divorced wife $5 as partial settlement of her claim for back alimony.

July 14 Garcia appeared before Judge T. W. Harris to show cause why he should not be jailed for failure to pay. He told Judge Harris he could not pay because he did not have any money.

"How much change have you in your pocket now?" asked Judge Harris.

"Five dollars," replied Garcia. "Then give your wife that amount," ordered Judge Harris.

Garcia remonstrated. He said he needed it to get back to Decoto, and flatly refused to obey the court order. He was sent to the county jail for contempt.

Today Garcia's attorney came into court and said his client was willing to pay over the $5. Judge Harris admonished him to make haste in paying up all of the claim, and liberated him.

SUE FOR COMMISSION.

Alexander Habeas Corpus Writ Delayed

Efforts to secure the freedom of Tony Alexander, alleged East Oakland gangster, accused with Frank August Avila of the murder of William Reinking on the evening of July 5, failed in Judge Samuel's court today, when the writ of habeas corpus was postponed until August 3. The writ was applied for by Clinton Dodge, attorney for Alexander, his affidavit setting forth that Avila struck the blow which is said to have caused Reinking's death and that Alexander was on the opposite side of the street.

PARIS MUST CUT INDEMNITY, SAYS RETURNED SOLON

None Can Question Right, But Enforcement Would Bring Collapse.

AURORA, Ill., July 27. (By the Associated Press.)—Congressman Ira C. Copeley of this city, who has just returned from an extended economic survey of Europe for the United States government, favors a moratorium on international obligations, he said today.

"No man, after visiting the ruined towns and villages of France," said Congressman Copeley, "can question France's moral right to great reparations. But if France were to get that which she asks it would bring about the economic collapse of the civilized world."

Copeley said that the first step necessary to restore prosperity to the United States and the world was an agreement to a moratorium of at least two years. He declared himself satisfied that France, in the economic interests of the world, must reduce its demands for reparations to actual costs of repairs, which he figures at one to one and one-half billion dollars. If France should insist on the payment of the $54,000,000,000 awarded by the Versailles peace treaty, Germany would be compelled to continue on its lowered standard of living and this would bring about a lower standard in the United States and over the entire world to meet the competition of the German workmen, Copeley believes.

"So long as Germany must pay the tremendous reparations France demands," said the congressman, "Germany will have to flood the world's markets with her goods to raise the money. And to win the world's markets she must sell her goods at a lower figure than those of the country to which she sends her product."

L. A. COMPOSER BURIED. LOS ANGELES, July 27.—General services were held here today for Jaroslav Zichlinski, 76 years old, native of Poland, American civil war veteran and composer, who died Tuesday at Santa Barbara.

Utilities and Industries Hit By Coal Shortage

COLUMBUS, O., July 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—State troops are mobilized at their armories and concentrated in the coal mining districts; thousands of miners and railroad shopmen are idle; public utilities, smaller manufacturing concerns and state institutions in some sections face imminent coal shortages; blast furnaces and steel mills are banking their fires because of lack of fuel; freight movement is delayed over some roads; lake shipping is on the decline and in some places facing a shutdown; retail coal dealers' stocks are depleted; concerns doing retail business in mining and railroad centers complain of depression; there are some of the effects of the coal and railroad strikes in Ohio as indicated by a survey of conditions by the Associated Press.

The impending shortage of coal apparently is the most generally felt of any of the effects of the strikes.

UTILITIES ARE SHORT. From Toledo it was reported that the Edison company, supplying a large portion of the city with electric current, had only a two weeks' supply of coal and that railroads were confiscating coal in transit to the water works, hospitals, dairies and other concerns. The Cleveland city light plant had on hand only enough coal to last eight days.

Advertisement for bids for 7500 tons of coal for state institutions said to be operating on a very limited supply, brought only one bid for 600 tons and was followed by announcement from the state house that it would possibly have to go into the open market to buy its coal.

In a statement issued at Warren, E. L. Franklin, president of the Ohio Electric Light association, said that while public utility companies are making every effort to build up reserve stocks of coal, these now were becoming exhausted.

Electric light and power companies would maintain service at any cost, Franklin said, but pointed out that this could be done only through high expense to the companies because of increased prices demanded for coal.

STEEL MILLS HARD HIT. Of the larger industrial concerns of the state, steel mills probably were the most seriously affected by the strikes. With additional business available, increased accidents at the mills and furnaces were hampered by inability to receive assurance of sufficient fuel and in the Youngstown district many blast furnaces already have been banked.

Resides coal shipments, movement of livestock and grain was said to have been delayed by the shop strikes, in many cases causing death of livestock en route to markets. A steady movement of produce toward market centers was reported, however.

$25 A TON PREDICTED. NEW YORK, July 27.—Retail coal dealers here today predicted that coal will cost $25 a ton this winter with substitutes likely unless the strike is settled or the government steps in and regulates prices.

Coal dealers said that public utilities are supplied for a short period as are gas and electric companies, but with no new supplies coming in anxiety is developing. Dealers refuse to quote prices except at time of delivery.

DOCTOR STARTS GLAND FARM TO CURE SENILITY

Actual Transplantation Is Unnecessary To Restore Youth, Claim.

By THOMAS HORGAN, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WEST DENNIS, Mass., July 26.—Cape Cod, the land of the Pilgrim fathers, now offers to the tourist and summer visitor in addition to its antiques, historic dwellings and picturesque nooks the added attraction of a modern gland farm.

On a twenty-five-acre farm here Dr. J. Leo Hanson, director of the Massachusetts Clinic for Diagnosis, who has long been a specialist in glands, says he has established a fountain of youth that would have satisfied even the Spanish explorers who vainly searched the Western hemisphere.

Goats and guinea pigs in large numbers have been brought to the farm. The doctor, with crates of small animals in his automobile, is a familiar sight.

Dr. Hanson differs radically with some of the best-known specialists in gland treatment. He declares that in many cases surgical operations are unnecessary, and that youthful vigor may be restored without the actual transplanting of glands. He contends that the effect produced by new glands is not as lasting as that produced by treating the old glands, if they are given attention in time.

Says a person who has been treated in many cases surgical operations are unnecessary, and that youthful vigor may be restored without the actual transplanting of glands. He contends that the effect produced by new glands is not as lasting as that produced by treating the old glands, if they are given attention in time.

Dr. Hanson maintains that the glands transferred to Harold F. McCormick, millionaire Harvester magnate of Chicago, did not constitute a cure, as, in his youth, he was the part of the family flier, attending the adjustment of the carburetor of the family flyover. Sixty per cent of Massachusetts men would be greatly benefited by gland treatment, and even a larger proportion of the women, according to the doctor.

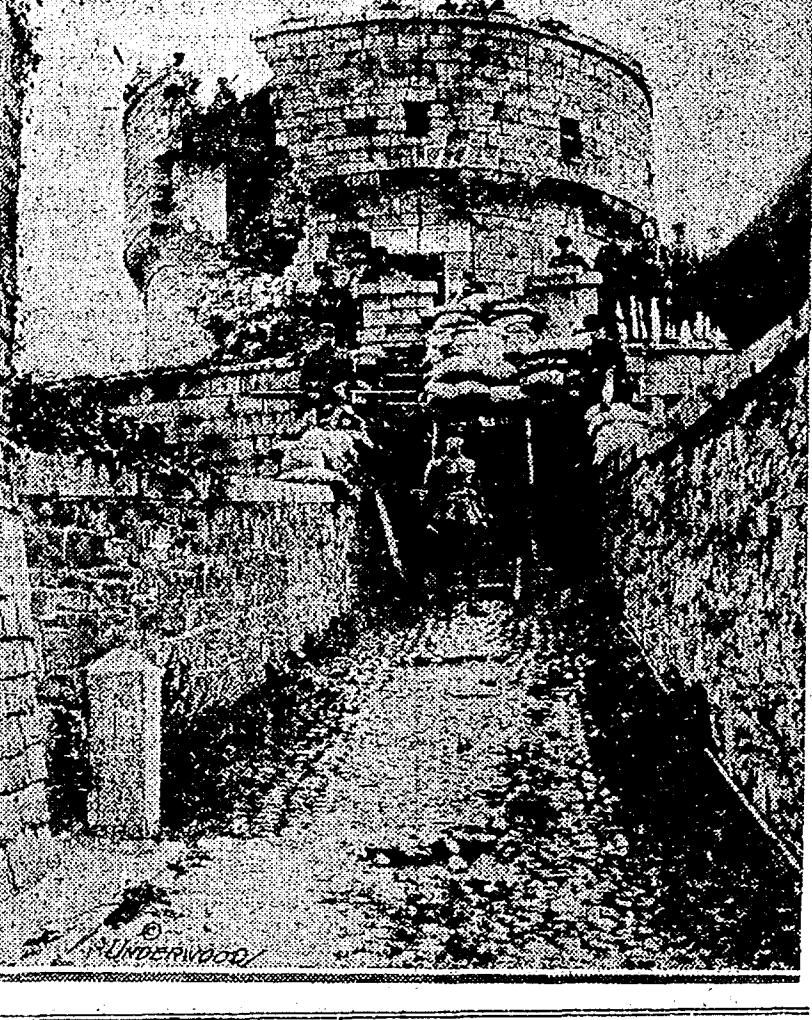

Senility, he says, is a disease, just as much as tuberculosis or cancer, and should be treated as such.

TWELVE KILLED IN FIGHTING OF ITALIAN FACTIONS

Deputy Meda's Failure to Form Cabinet Raises Public Tension.

ROME, July 27.—(By International News Service.)—Efforts of Deputy Meda to form a new cabinet in succession to the Fascist ministry ended in failure today. In the meantime the political situation grows more tense with rumors of a possible military dictatorship. It was expected that King Victor Emmanuel would invite Signor Donovio to attempt the formation of a ministry and in the event of his failure would call upon Signor Orlando or Signor D'Annunzio.

Twelve persons were reported to have been killed in fighting between Fascist and Socialists which has been raging at Ravenna for 24 hours. Many others were wounded. The government situation is obscure and the outcome cannot be foreseen. Practically all the leading statesmen have admitted their inability to form a new government.

Public tension has arisen to fever pitch over the warfare between the Fascist and the Communists and Socialists in the north. Both sides have armed and are prepared for a spread of the conflict.

The Fascists have issued a manifesto calling for general mobilization. The proclamation also demands the expulsion of all Socialists and Republicans from the government of the department of Emilia.

Already thousands of Fascist have been concentrated in the northern part of Italy, most of them in the department of Piedmont.

The Broom Handle Turns off the Gas!

BRIDGET BUSTLE was an industrious soul. She swept and mopped the kitchen—she cleaned the floor back of the gas range.

Then she started dinner. But there was no gas. Excitedly she called the Gas Man. The mistress would be furious, if dinner was late.

The P G and E representative soon arrived. In a moment the gas was on. Bridget, herself, had cut it off when she knocked the stopcock back of the range with her broom handle.

P G and E Service is Continuous

On the pipe leading to your gas range is a valve, or stopcock, which cuts the gas off from the range so that burners may be removed, cleaned, and adjusted. Sometimes, in sweeping, the broom handle will strike the valve and cut off the gas. Watch to keep this valve open.

PACIFIC SERVICE embraces a desire to help customers, no matter if the Company is in no way to blame for the difficulty. Day or night, fair weather or foul, you will find a P G and E man will come to your assistance upon call.

"Sidewalk Vamp" Newest Menace To Auto Driver

CHICAGO, July 27.—A concerted drive on the "boulevard vamp"—most deadly of the female species—was ordered today by Chief of Police Charles Fitzmorris.

"A vamp on the sidewalk is worse than two in the tonneau," Policewoman Mary Ready declared as she prepared to stalk the wary females.

War on the sidewalk flappers was ordered when police learned that Michigan boulevard was becoming fraught with danger for Chicago's unprotected males.

"If they only vamp the guy on foot instead of the Adonis at the wheel it wouldn't be so bad," Policewoman Ready, the chief vamp detector, said.

"They insist on deceiving some handsome young man just as the traffic cop signals. Result: A jam, a busted fender, probably harsh words and fine."

"It's not safe for a man with an eye for women to drive down Michigan boulevard. The vamps are out in scores and if they don't land him at one corner they will at the next."

"Perfect Man" and His Bride

ORVILLE CALDWELL, New York actor, hailed by Elinor Glynn as the perfect man, and MRS. CALDWELL, who have been visiting friends here, where the former U. C. graduate started on his professional career.

Orville Caldwell, Stage Star, and Wife at Home of His Mother Here.

Orville Caldwell, "the perfect man," and the "Paul" of Elinor Glynn's "Three Weeks," is en route to Los Angeles with his wife, after a brief visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Caldwell, of this city, where he started on his phenomenal theatrical career.

A graduate of the Oakland High school and the University of California, where he attained prominence in amateur theatricals, Caldwell made his professional debut at the Liberty theater and achieved national prominence as the sultan in the New York production of "Mecca."

While playing the sultan Caldwell was hailed as the perfect man by Elinor Glynn, who was seeking a Paul for the picturization of "Three Weeks." Mrs. Glynn an-

Petersen Would Void Drink Parlor License

Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen today recommended to Chief of Police James T. Drew that the soft drink parlor license held jointly by Pat Slattery and Pat McWalters be revoked. The recommendation was made following the investigation of the alleged robbery of Dennis Griffith, who visited the place on Monday night.

Griffith told the police that he had several drinks of Jackass brandy in the place and then they cashed his pay check, which was for $50. He told Captain Petersen that when he woke up he was in a back room in the place and that his money was missing.

noticed that Caldwell was the ideal physical man and fitted her idea of Paul to the proverbial "T." Caldwell has just finished a two-years' run in "Mecca," and, according to his mother, has been engaged to play opposite Katharine McDonal next season. Caldwell's wife was Miss Audrey Anderson, of Melbourne, Australia, where she is well known in the social and dramatic world.

Caldwell is a member of the English club, the Mask and Dagger and the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity of the University of California, as well as the Players' club of New York. He was a graduate of the class of 1918 at the university.

The Caldwells will reside at Hollywood.

Burning Feet, Corns and Callouses Halt Mrs. Doyer

On long hike from Boston to Los Angeles

Reaches New York, Where Foot Troubles Threaten to End Strenuous Journey. Tells How She Outwitted Pains From Sore, Burning Feet, Corns and Bunions With

GYPSY FOOT RELIEF A WONDERFUL SECRET FROM THE DESERT

AFTER shaking hands with Governor Cox of Massachusetts and Mayor Curley of Boston, Mrs. Bella Doyer and her fifteen-year old son started their long hike from Boston to Los Angeles, California, with nothing but jack-knives in their pockets and walking sticks for protection on their strenuous journey. Dressed in khaki uniforms, they reached New York City in good time, where Mrs. Doyer's burning feet, corns and the appearance of a red-sore bunion threatened to halt her intended record-making expedition. But hearing of the wonders performed by Gypsy Foot Relief, Mrs. Doyer obtained a box and anxiously put it to the test, for here was an aggravated condition of foot troubles calling for immediate relief, and she must make good her slogan of "reach Los Angeles by foot—or die!" How Mrs. Doyer succeeded in her own words in an interview just before leaving New York to continue her $500 mile foot-trip. She said:

appearance. I thought I would have to give up my "reach-California-on-foot-or-die" program. Hearing about the wonders of Gypsy Foot Relief, I obtained a box and applied it that afternoon, and that night, and the next morning, and to my surprise, my feet felt as if they had new life; the burning and soreness had gone and the pains from corns and bunions had disappeared as if by magic. I started on my long hike again and now that I have some Gypsy Foot Relief, I am sure I will reach Los Angeles without any more foot troubles or misery.

NOTE:—Gypsy Foot Relief, mentioned by Mrs. Doyer, is a secret from the desert. Applied in a minute, relief comes a few minutes later. The awful pains from burning, caloused feet, corns, and bunions seem to disappear as if by magic! No bother to apply—no plasters—no powders—no soaking feet in medicated baths—no fuss! Simply apply it as directed, then put on your shoes and walk, run, or dance as long as you wish, or work and stay on your feet as long as you like! So remarkable are the reports of Gypsy Foot Relief from different parts of the country, that the makers guarantee successful results in every case—or you get back the little it costs! It is sold in this city by all good druggists, including Osgood Drug Company, Model Pharmacy, Owl Drug Company.—Advertisement.

New Budget Will Be Presented Soon

The 1922-23 budget, which disappeared from public ken some weeks ago, is scheduled to bob up again next week bearing the marks of several amputations and operations performed by the commissioner of finance, William J. Baccus.

All work on the budget, according to Baccus, is being delayed until the city auditor can produce correct figures showing the exact amounts spent by each department for the last fiscal year ending July 1.

The auditor's statement is expected Monday. The budget is expected to be presented to the council as a whole during the week. The harbor betterments, and public improvements, are expected to consume much more money this year than last.

CO-OPERATION, BROTHERLY LOVE, ECONOMIC URGE

Albert Elliott Disclaims the Drones of Society Must Be Eliminated.

On the success of the luncheon club depends the elimination of future wars.

This was the keynote of a talk on "The Law of Economics in Business," by Albert Elliott, an attorney, at the meeting of the Lions club in the Hotel Oakland yesterday.

Elliott preached the doctrine of co-operation and brotherly love from a scientific standpoint and took as his great example the supposed conditions on the planet Mars.

"We are given to understand by our scientific friends that Mars is connected from pole to pole by gigantic canals," said Elliott, "these canals appear to have been built by humans for the water supply which they do not get by rains. Herein we find the great effects of co-operation, and we see readily that war on Mars is an impossibility, for it would consist merely of shutting off the water supply."

"So it is that we cannot expect to put an end to war through the medium of sentiment. We must have our settlement on purely scientific or business propositions, and the growth of the luncheon club idea will accomplish it. It will not be a far day when luncheon clubs are international in scope as well as theory, and in that day war will cease."

Meanwhile we must stung out the drones of society—the man who sits on his money bags and does nothing constructive and the man who rides on the brakebeams and begs from door to door. Neither of these understand the law of business economics, and should be treated as the drone is treated in the beehive. Hence we will sting him. I cannot say, but it will happen."

Native Sons Parlor To Initiate Fifteen

One of the largest class initiations to be held in recent years by Oakland parlor No. 5, N. S. C. W. will be held tomorrow night at Native Sons hall, Eleventh and Clay streets, when fifteen candidates will be initiated into the order. This will mark the first large initiation since President Edward E. Murphy has been in the chair and will bring the membership of the parlor close to the 300 mark.

Raymond Weis, newly-appointed chairman of the good of the order committee in place of Louis Crawford, has arranged for a unique evening of entertainment, the occasion likewise marking the semi-annual entertainment of the members of the parlor by the newly installed officers.

A large delegation of the members of Oakland parlor were entertained last night at a supper and dance by the members of Zabala Vista parlor No. 187 at Jenny Lind hall. Arrangements for the occasion were in charge of Missie Marshall.

THREE-MINUTE TALES by do Schuster

SILENT SWAN

IN the mountain country where he drove the mail stage Swan Carlson was known as the silent Swede. He was the passenger seeking information of the old mining country through which his route curved and rose and fell. To the residents of Camptonville and Downville, where he spent all his evenings, he was a man respected for wisdom.

Swan's run, from the one mining town to the other, passed many a place famous in the story of the roaring fifties. It left a shelf in the mountainside to cross a bridge at Goodyear Bar where men, in the days of Bret Harte, took fortunes from the gravel beside the Yuba; it dipped to the edge of the rushing water and it rose to amazing heights. At the steering wheel of a truck, when the roads were free of snow, Swan made the run oblivious to the scenery. He watched the turns and he had never had an accident. In the winter the trip was made but once a week, a string of pack mules plowing through the drifts.

Business frequently called Lem Short to Downville. There were two stage runs from Marysville to Camptonville, runs enlivened by the stories of the drivers, yarns spun by the old-timers to be repeated with something like reverence by the newer generation. Then came Swan and the silent journey over the last leg of the trip.

"How's the fishing this year?" Lem asked one day, seeking a subject in which the driver might find interest. "Any of the boys catching the limit?"

"Good," said Swan without turning his head. "Some."

LEM studied his companion and resolved to learn something of the man's story. He must be 40 years old, Lem thought, and there was a sad cast to his determined face, a discouraged look in the eyes, which spoke of mystery. Had the man always been silent?

Swan, or had something occurred to remove him from the fellowship of men?

The truck rounded a curve in the narrow road, brakes ground and screamed and Lem, holding tight, felt his heart in his mouth. Another car had swung into view and a frightened driver was jamming his brakes. With the radiators all but touching, the cars stopped. One driver wilted, while Swan, without changing his expression, waited.

"You back," he said after a moment. "I've got the mail."

To all of Lem's congratulations and excited comment Swan made no reply. Only once did his eyes leave the road ahead, and that was when they approached a little cottage set a quarter mile back from the road. In front of this place the driver stopped.

"Wait," he said, and walked briskly along the trail to the house. Those who expected packages on Swan's stage were in the habit of waiting beside the road. Lem had never known Swan to stop like this before and he noticed the man carried nothing with him. He remembered now the driver had always glanced at this cottage in passing and wondered if inside were some part of the life the silent man hid from the world.

IN 15 minutes Swan came back and the drive was resumed. Surprise was in store for Lem. "It was 12 years ago," said lent Swan, "when Nancy and I fell out. We were going to be married until I had a row with her old uncle. For two months it went on, then I wrote her a letter. 'When you're ready to make up,' I said, 'hang a shawl in the front window and I'll stop.' That was the end of it."

It was the end of the story, apparently, for Swan was concentrating again upon the steering wheel. Ahead, the forks of the Yuba met at Downville. "You'll be a witness?" Swan asked. "I will get married tomorrow," "Look here, man," the astonished Lem asked, "are you telling me you fixed up a marriage in the few minutes you spent in that cabin?" Swan slowed the machine down to a crawl, then fixed an even stare on his companion. "Why not?" he asked. "She hung up the shawl, didn't she?" Tomorrow—The Three Envelopes. (Copyright, 1922.)

ENGLAND TO PAY DEBT, DECLARES CHANCELLOR

Geddes Uses American Slang At Farewell Banquet in London.

LONDON, July 27.—(By the Associated Press).—Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, and Lord Birkenhead, lord high chancellor, took occasion, at the dinner of the English-speaking union, in farewell to the ambassador on his return to Washington, to reiterate and underscore previous ministerial assurances of the inviolability of the obligations of Great Britain to her debtors.

The lord high chancellor's reference to the Anglo-American financial affairs was the only ministerial note recorded on what otherwise was a most felicitous exchange of expressions of amity and good will between the two greatest English-speaking nations.

"When we look back on our long history we find no occasion where we ever failed to meet a bond to which we had set our hand," Lord Birkenhead declared. "Honor and the stability of the finances of this country require that we should be ready to meet any proper and reasonable charge which can properly and legally be laid upon us."

"I touch upon this delicate subject only because it is proper I should say plainly for the understanding of the citizens of this country and the United States that we are not today the unworthy legatees of those who for generations had charge of the security and financial hegemony of the world."

The lord chancellor's declarations drew more applause than Sir Auckland's affirmations a few minutes later, that for more Americans had a "comprehensive view of Great Britain's problems and conditions than Britons of American affairs."

This he attributed to the insufficiency of news of the American continent cables to the British press.

The ambassador displayed an extensive knowledge of American slang, which he used appropriately and handsily throughout his address.

In conclusion the ambassador declared that at present so far as official relations were concerned nothing could be more fortunate than the relations between these two governments.

Otto H. Kahn toasted Lord Birkenhead, lauding his services to the allied cause and the esteem in which he is held in America.

T. & D.

Charles Ray, the defiant, shy hero of the screen, plays the part of a young artist who enters the Bohemian life of Greenwich Village only to be disillusioned. In "R. S. V. P." his latest release, which opens a week's engagement Sunday afternoon at the T. & D. theater.

On the same bill will be a picture of "Head Over Heels," the production of a two-reel picture, which is a prologue, "Twenty Minutes in a Bakery," in which the Three Senators will be seen.

In "R. S. V. P." Ray is seen as a son of a wealthy family who goes to New York to study art. He becomes embroiled in the artifice of Greenwich Village.

NEW BROADWAY

If laughs are reverberating up and down Broadway today it's because of the new comedy picture, "Head Over Heels." The production began a two-reel picture, which is a prologue, "Twenty Minutes in a Bakery," in which the Three Senators will be seen.

In "R. S. V. P." Ray is seen as a son of a wealthy family who goes to New York to study art. He becomes embroiled in the artifice of Greenwich Village.

BOY DIES OF SNAKE BITE.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 27.—The first death from snake bite in years in southern New York occurred yesterday when Worth Nelson, aged 4, died at his home near here after having been bitten by a rattlesnake Tuesday afternoon. Rattlesnakes are more numerous in this community this summer than in previous years.

Stage and Film Stars Seen in Oakland

FULTON

Record crowds this week are applauding Crane Wilbur, Mlle. Suzanne Caubert and the Fulton theater players in Wilbur's newest play, "The Heart of Dan O'Hare," which will bring to a close, Saturday night, Wilbur's successful eight-week season at the Fulton theater.

"The Heart of Dan O'Hare" is a story of an Irish lad whose heart was broken by a betrayal in New York, became a political king and planned a terrible revenge, furnish the plot upon which Wilbur had built a wealth of pathos, comedy and unusual character portrayal.

Sunday will mark the opening of a brief season starring Bessie Barricade and her husband, Howard Hickman. Hickman already has begun his work, co-directing with Frank Marlin, in the sumptuous production of the "Ten Hurs of comedies," "Twin Bods," which will keep audiences laughing uproariously for the first week of the Barricade-Hickman engagement.

PANTAGES

Carl McCullough, scintillating exponent of musical comedy and recognized favorite with every one who has seen or heard him, comes to Oakland Sunday night, to play in "Women," her delightful new picture heading this week's program at the Pantages theater. The picture is adapted from Jackson Gregory's California novel, "Judith of Blue Lake Ranch."

On the same bill is the exotic Pola Negri in her latest success, "Vendetta."

Next week the American presents another double bill with a conspicuous assortment of stars. The two pictures on the coming program are "Over the Border" with Betty Compson and Tom Moore, and "The Man Unconquerable" with Jack Holt and Sylvia Brimmer.

AUDITORIUM

Another big hit is to be accorded the Hartman-Steindorf aggregation in the production of "Wang" at the Auditorium theater. "Wang" has always been a very popular comic play, and the fact that the present DeWolfe Hopper is planning a revival of the piece in New York. There is a snap, go and melody to the piece.

The production introduces Miss Lillian Glaser, the prima donna, in a man's role for the first time. Harry Tyler, the scenic artist, has achieved something distinctly different in the staging of this play. The scenic effect, which he has worked into the scenery. Announcement is made that a special children's matinee will be given on Saturday afternoon, at which time free toys will be given to all kiddies present.

NEW FRANKLIN

"The Deliculous Little Devil" with Mae Murray and Rodolph Valentino, has caused unprecedented patronage at the Franklin theater this week. Although hundreds of requests have been received by the management, owing to the continuance of the engagement, it was not possible to broadcast last night over the wireless that it would be impossible to continue this feature, so as to make way for Tom Moore in a big production at the Franklin. "The Deliculous Little Devil" is well named.

Next Saturday Tom Moore will appear in "Mr. Barnes of New York," together with Gladys Walton in "Second Hand News," two of the real hits of the season.

NEW CHIMES

A picture which radiates happiness and which will undoubtedly help many to see the finer and truer side of life is "The Bachelor Daddy," which is being shown at the New Chimes theater. The picture commenced a three days engagement Tuesday and has been playing to large attendance. It is a picture which demonstrates the power of child love and no better section for the starring role herein could have been made than Thomas Meighan, famous as "The Good Luck Star."

The work of the star in this Paramount picture is wonderful, while Leatrice Joy as leading woman acts her part with warmth and charm.

Of the five kiddies—Charlotte (Peaches), Jackson, Barbara, Peter and Paul—their names are on the program.

NEW BROADWAY

If laughs are reverberating up and down Broadway today it's because of the new comedy picture, "Head Over Heels." The production began a two-reel picture, which is a prologue, "Twenty Minutes in a Bakery," in which the Three Senators will be seen.

In "R. S. V. P." Ray is seen as a son of a wealthy family who goes to New York to study art. He becomes embroiled in the artifice of Greenwich Village.

LA FOLLETTE TO ASK VINDICATION AT POLLS SEPT. 5

Radicalism Is Issue Stressed in Primary to be Held in Wisconsin Sept. 5.

MADISON, Wis., July 27.—(By The Associated Press.)—Two contests of outstanding importance are before the Wisconsin voters at the September 5 primary, the one between Senator Robert M. La Follette, seeking re-nomination for the third time as the Republican candidate for U. S. senator, and Dr. W. A. Gamble, president of Carroll college, and the other between Governor J. J. Blaine, seeking re-nomination as Republican candidate, and Attorney-General William J. Morgan, his opponent. "Radicalism" is the issue being stressed by the candidates opposed to Senator La Follette and Governor Blaine, who are in a political partnership. According to the La Follette factor, the issue is between "progress and reaction," between the principles enunciated by Senator La Follette during his 25 years as a political leader in Wisconsin and what they term the reactionary principles of his political enemies.

Dr. Gamble, during his campaign tour of the state, is attacking the war record of the senator and what they term the reactionary principles of his political enemies. Dr. Gamble, during his campaign tour of the state, is attacking the war record of the senator and what they term the reactionary principles of his political enemies. Dr. Gamble, during his campaign tour of the state, is attacking the war record of the senator and what they term the reactionary principles of his political enemies.

State issues are stressed by Attorney-General William J. Morgan in his campaign against Governor Blaine. The attorney has received the support of the anti-saloon league, because of the attorney general's expression against return of light wines and beer. He urges support on home building and home ownership, and says that he is conducting his campaign without appeal to class prejudice.

Highway Contracts
To Be Standardized
BUREKA, July 27.—At yesterday's session of the California County Supervisors' convention a tacit understanding with a number of the state's most prominent road-building contractors was reached whereby road building contracts in the future will be standardized, according to an announcement.

WISE MINISTER HAS DANCING CHOIR

"Did you read about the minister in New York State who has encouraged dancing in his choir and now has such a large and splendid choir of 225 voices that he has to use a standing room only sign because so many people want to hear the choir and his sermons?" "Just what has the dancing to do with it?" "Oh, he has made such an event of the social features of the choir that young people are clamoring to join. This minister says young people are going to dance, anyway, so he encourages the right kind of dancing to the right music and says they are surely popular."

Cantilever Shoe

for Men

Hot Weather Suggestions

If your feet swell and perspire on hot days, causing you discomfort, follow these suggestions of the best physicians and specialists:

Bathe the feet every day in warm water, then let cold water run over them for several minutes. Dry with soft towels; dust with pure talcum. And wear the Cantilever Shoe.

You will find great relief in its perfect ease.

The flexible shank bends with the foot in walking. Ordinary stiff-soled shoes bind the muscles and check circulation, which makes the feet swell. But in Cantilevers muscles and cords grow strong from use, fallen arches are corrected, and free circulation keeps the feet comfortable.

Surveys Made For "Necklace of Light"

The city street department is making surveys and estimates of the shores of Lake Merritt to determine how many ornamental light poles will be needed for the "necklace of light" around the lake.

The temporary wooden poles during the Shrine celebration numbered 560, but no such number is needed for the big permanent light poles. About 150 of the latter have already been donated by clubs and citizens, at a cost of $85 each, and it is believed that another 150 will border the lake completely.

The latest donors of poles include the Glenview Improvement club, L. B. Hodge (3), William Cavalier (2), Beach Soule and Oakland Post No. 5, American Legion.

SHIP'S CREW SAVED.
PORT ARTHUR, Tex., July 27.—Captain Earl Young and a crew of 29 men from the steamer Charles Bradley, which burned at sea, have been picked up from lifeboats by the tank steamer Gulf Light and landed at Tampica. All hands are safe.

Surprise Friends With Wedding Saturday

Interesting news to the college and younger sets is the approaching marriage of Miss Carolyn Oliver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Oliver of Jerome avenue, Piedmont, and Ralph Robertson Patrick, which is to take place Saturday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. H. B. Ellsworth, in Niles. About seventy guests will motor out for the ceremony, which will be read by an old friend of the bride's family, Rev. R. Jones, retired, of the Congregational church.

Because of illness in the bride's family, the nuptials are to take place at the old family home of the Ellsworths. The spacious rooms will be decorated with a wealth of pink and white sweet peas and a wedding supper will follow the informal reception.

Miss Beatrice Ellsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ellsworth, of Piedmont, and a cousin of the bride, will be maid of honor. Ernest Wilson will be best man.

Miss Oliver was in her sophomore year at Mills College, where she was one of the most popular of the younger girls. Her fiancé attended the Agricultural College at Davis for two years.

Following their wedding, the

MISS CAROLYN OLIVER, a Piedmont maid, who has been a participant in the social activities of the month.

SAWYER DENIES HOSPITALIZATION IS OBSTRUCTED

President's Physician Replies to Charge By Relating Work Being Done.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Reply to charges that as chief co-ordinator of the Federal board of hospitalization he had delayed and obstructed the government's program for care of disabled veterans, Brigadier-General Sawyer, President Harding's personal physician, in a formal statement today, declared "facts certainly show that the United States Government is doing every consistent thing possible for the disabled veteran; and for the length of time at its disposal, everything has been achieved which human agencies could have accomplished."

General Sawyer's statement was in reply to the charge, made public in Chicago by A. A. Sprague, chairman of the national re-habilitation committee, of the American Legion, that the President's physician was standing in the way of hospitalization work.

In his statement, General Sawyer declared that it is "the determination of the present administration to give to the disabled World War Veterans the very best of hospital service that can possibly be provided."

"There are, at present, he added, 99 government hospitals in the United States, with a capacity of 28,412 beds, 10,191 of which are at the present time unoccupied," and the veterans' bureau has under the process of construction at the present time 3500 additional beds, which have already been located and work commenced.

"Dr. Sawyer said, 'are all now operated upon a standardized service which guarantees the very best of hospital treatment which can be provided.'"

"There is engaged in this hospital service a personnel of about one attendant to each patient. In this personnel are men and women of the highest type of scientific, professional and medical skill."

"When the hospitalization plan of the government for the care of the ex-service men shall have been completed as now contemplated, and which is being hurried to early completion, it will represent in all of the departments a total expenditure of approximately $800,000,000."

Soldiers' Act Speed Up Plan Arranged

SACRAMENTO, July 27.—A plan, whereby useless delay will be obviated in making the transfer of property, purchased by the State in accordance with the provisions of the Veterans' Farm and Home Act, to the veteran, was reached in a conference held yesterday in Los Angeles between State Controller Ray L. Riley and officials of the Veterans' Welfare board.

The arrangement includes also a satisfactory plan for the veteran to make his payments in property to the State, and will have the effect of speeding up the work for the veterans. The purpose is to increase the revolving fund of the Veterans' board so expenditures can be made directly from it instead of through the usual channels.

WATCH FOR WEDNESDAY ANT ADVTS.

The hardest task in a young mother's day

IN the young mother's schedule nothing recurs with more annoying regularity than the daily washing. Most stupendous of all this are the mountains of diapers.

No way has yet been found to save a mother all the work of washing diapers, but there is a way of saving her the hardest part.

Tomorrow, or the next time you wash diapers, do them this way: Let them soak for an hour or more in big, lasting suds of Rinso and lukewarm water. Then rinse thoroughly, getting all the soap out.

Rinso is a new kind of soap—so pure and perfectly balanced that it gets diapers spotlessly clean without any rubbing. The mild Rinso suds soak the dirt right out of the fabric without weakening a single fibre.

Don't wash diapers the long, hard way another time. Save yourself the wearisome rubbing which is such a drain on a young mother's strength.

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux—the largest soap makers in the world. It comes in two sizes—the regular size and the big new package. Get Rinso today—at grocery and department stores everywhere. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

NOTE: In hard water it takes from 3/4 to 1 package of Rinso to a tub to make good suds. In very hard water you will need from 1 1/2 to 2 packages to a tub to get the big lasting suds that loosen all the dirt.

couple will make their home in this city.

The Ellsworth and Oliver families are among the representative of the Eastbay cities.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Catholic church in St. Helena on Sunday, July 23, when Miss Regina Catherine Salmina and Kenneth Valdemar Arntzen were united in marriage.

The bride, a petite brunette, was striking in her bridal robes of white satin and chantly lace. The tulle veil was held to the coiffure with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids, roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Antoinette Morosoli, her cousin, and Felix Salmina, Jr., were the only attendants. She was gown in an apricot shade of beaded georgette crepe and wore a picture hat of white lace and carried a shower of pink bride roses.

Rev. Father Galvin, formerly of San Francisco, now pastor of St. Helena Catholic church, and known as the "Fighting Chaplain" of the 363d Infantry, officiated.

Miss Helen Auberlin, of Berkeley, played the wedding march, and Miss Rowena Thompson of Willets rendered solos during the ceremony. Both young women were classmates of the bride of this year at the University of California.

After the ceremony the guests motored out to the Salmina home at Larkmead, where a reception was held, followed by a breakfast, where covers were set for 60 guests.

George Gelder, attorney of this city, acted as toastmaster.

The young couple left on the afternoon train for Southern California, and on their return will reside in San Francisco in a new home now in the course of construction, a gift of the bride's father.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Salmina, of St. Helena, and is a graduate of this year's class from the University of California. The groom, as well known in San Francisco, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Valdemar Arntzen, of Berkeley. He holds a responsible position with the Union Trust Company of San Francisco.

One of the most extensively feted brides-elect of the late summer will be Miss Hope Somerset, bride-elect, of Donald Walsh, their marriage to take place August 30 in Berkeley. Miss Elizabeth Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walton Norwood Moore, will entertain at luncheon for Miss Somerset the afternoon of August 10. On August 2 Miss Catherine Bentley of San Francisco will be hostess at her home at tea. Miss Moore will entertain at her home in Crocker Highlands. Miss Kittie Fletcher, who with her mother, Mrs. Peter Fletcher, is summering in California, is the guest of Mrs. Sprague Magruder across the bay, and will entertain for Miss Somerset, at whose marriage she will be maid of honor, the first week in August.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Youngberg and their little daughter are home from Wawona. They spent five weeks there, Youngberg being a devotee of golf. Many pleasant trips were made in the valley during their sojourn. The Youngbergs motored as far as Merced, journeying the rest of the way by train.

Mr. and Mrs. James Porter and their young son, James Porter, Jr., will leave the first of the month for Rio Nido on the Russian river, where they spend a month each season. Miss Grace Ziegenfuss has gone to Isleton on the Sacramento river for a fortnight's stay with her mother, Mrs. J. B. Ziegenfuss. Miss Gardner was graduated from the University of California last semester.

The Edward Lohmans (Katherine Ziegenfuss) now make their home at Laredo in Marin county.

WILL LEAVE FOR OREGON.

Mrs. Leona Mathison is to leave soon for a month's trip to North Bend, Ore., where she will be the guest of relatives and friends. Miss Gertrude Mathison will remain at her home in Fortieth avenue.

CARDS ANNOUNCE BETHROTHAL.

Cards have been received announcing the engagement of Miss Jane Lawson and Sherrill Conner of Berkeley. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lawson, and is a niece of Mrs. Wallace R. Pond.

The benedict-elect is a son of Mrs. A. S. Conner of Piedmont, and is a graduate of the state university. He is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. The wedding will take place some time this year.

Mr. and Mrs. D. N. McCarthy, with their son Frank and daughter, Kathryn McCarthy, have returned from a trip to Southern California. They were in Los Angeles and Venice.

Mrs. W. C. Gardner of Venice accompanied them north and will visit a month in this city.

Mrs. George McPenke has returned from a two weeks' vacation at Calistoga, Napa county.

The engagement of Miss Helen Isabel Pierce, who is the daughter of the John Pierces of Richmond boulevard, and Walter M. Somers, was announced recently at a tea at the home of the bride-elect. Snap dragons and other old-fashioned blooms were used in the appointments of the home. Bridge was the diversion of the afternoon. Among the guests from the bay cities were Miss Mary Kramer, Miss Phyllis Rorchert, Miss Eloise Ogilvie, Miss Marion McGadie and Mrs. Raymond Jeans; John Ramsey Hunter, H. G. Claudius, L. G. Fitchard and C. C. Wing.

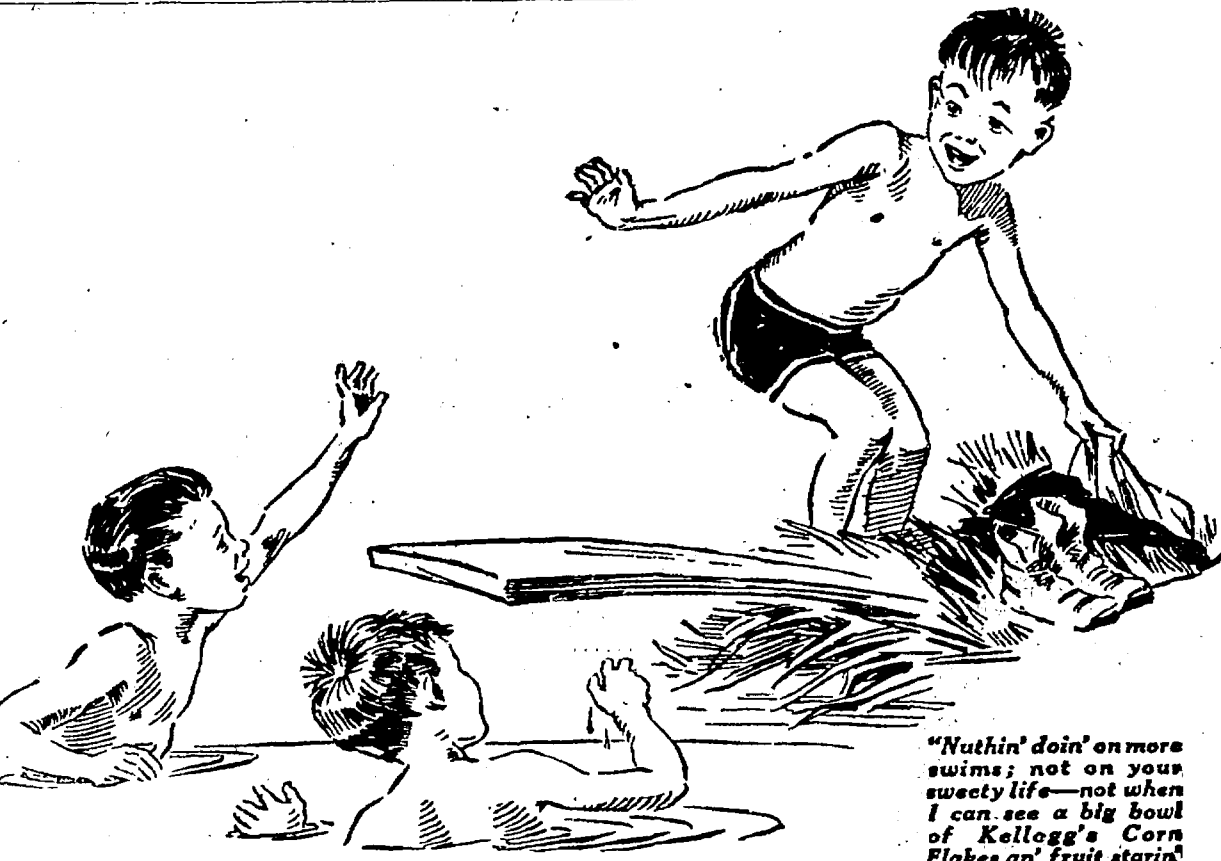

Sontmeimer is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sontmeimer of San Jose. The wedding will take place in the fall.

STARLIGHT

Virginia Fairfax, daughter of the first family of Virginia, whose against the puritanical rule of her grandfather and, lured by filmland, runs away to become a movie picture actress. Virginia, found herself given a very important place in a picture by Theodore Stratton, a film star. She is made in love with him. Virginia leaves her father, who is a miser, and goes to San Francisco. She also learns Eddie Montfort, her childhood lover, is in town with a football team. Virginia spurs Stratton. Virginia invited her friends to witness a movie scene in which she was to be blown from a yacht and rescued by Stratton. The next day all pictures preparatory to the scene were finished. The director feared Virginia would weaken in the big test, was hurried into the sea. Her head struck a floating object. She was rendered unconscious. Eddie Montfort found her. He doubted his strength to get her ashore. He tells the story.

MY FATHER. With an understanding given to few men, Eddie saw no safely seated with my father in the deer garden. The room of the little mountain inn, then disappeared. There my father told me the story of his life and together we linked the present with the dead past.

My father told me of my dear mother and spoke in reverent tones of their great love. My eyes—and his—were wet with tears long before he finished his recital.

When we both grew calmer he told me how a longing to be alone for a time had drawn him from the city, quite by chance, to this remote spot—there he found his heart's desire. He spoke of his amazement when he first saw me under the pepper tree, at the resemblance to his dead wife, my mother. And then he added solemnly:

"One must believe that something more than the long arm of coincidence brought me here. God's hand guided me."

"Oh, my child, my child, you do not hate me for letting you go out of my life when you were a tiny baby and did not know. I could not do otherwise. Your implacable grandfather forced the agreement. I was helpless. I knew your Aunt Virginia, dear woman that she is, would take care of you for the love of her sister, and I could not care for you at that time. I was too ill."

"I gave your grandfather my word, Virginia, that I would never speak to you again. I have broken my promise."

"It doesn't matter. Grandfather is dead, father."

"And how came you here, my child?"

"I got tired of grandfather's arrogance and I ran away to become what I now am, a moving-picture actress. Aunt Virginia gave me the money. She is here now."

"And then I sketched my story to him—ah I dared to tell. He alternately smiled and frowned, and I think he swore a little, at times, under his breath."

"For the moment we had both of us forgotten that there was anyone else in all the world but ourselves. I told my father of all my friends: of Gloria and her husband, Richardson, of Jack Thompson and Angela Brown and the rest. My tears came afresh as I told him the story of Kitty Dalton and her sacrifice."

"It couldn't be otherwise, dear," he said soothingly. "Kitty married to John Storm could not have been happy. In every community there are too many narrow-minded souls. These people are too small to forgive a woman like Kitty. Though they would have called themselves Christians, they would have hurled Kitty back to the wolves of debauchery by their sneers and innuendoes. Don't you see, dear, that Kitty herself would not have it otherwise. Few people in the world have a chance to pay so gloriously for redemption as she."

I was glad my father did not ask me about Theodore Stratton. He simply dismissed him by saying that he was a very good actor of the old school and had probably taught me many things. I did not dare to tell him just how much I had learned from Mr. Stratton.

WHISTLER SLAIN BY AX WIELDER TO STOP HIM

PANAMA, Ia., July 27.—Math Herbst, 60 years old, a blacksmith, stood in front of his shop yesterday whistling cheerfully.

Across the street walked John Schaefer, a 70-year-old laborer. He called to Herbst, saying: "Come over and whistle for me."

As Herbst crossed the street Schaefer is alleged to have struck him with an ax. Herbst died from his injuries.

Schaefer, who is being held in the jail at Harlam without bond on a charge of first degree murder, is reported to have remarked as Herbst was being carried away: "I make them quit whistling."

Schaefer's dislike for whistling is said to amount to a mania.

Boys Volunteer to Cut Akron's Weeds

AKRON, Ohio, July 26.—Future mayors and councilmen here are displaying an unlimited wealth of civic pride. The Akron youngsters throughout the city are volunteering to cut and rake the weeds from lawns in view of the fact that the condition of the city's finances is such as to prevent this work being done with city labor.

Sailor's Strange Will Is Probated

LONDON, July 27.—Strange as the story of any document told in fiction is that of a will which has just been admitted to probate and is now filed in Somerset House. It is the "last will and testament" of a sailor, William Skinner, who lost his life when his ship, the Indefatigable, was sunk in the battle of Jutland. It is in the form of the ordinary identification disc. On one side, in the usual deeply-punched letters, appears the name, number, rating and religion of the man to whom it had been issued. On the other side the disc appears at first sight to be just a circular piece of smooth, polished brass. But when viewed at a certain angle, there can be seen about 75 minutely engraved words. With a microscope they can be plainly read. They constitute Skinner's will by which he bequeaths everything to his wife. The disc had been recovered from the sea with Skinner's

Contraband Whisky Removes Roof Paint

NORRISTOWN, Pa., July 25.—Corporal Rodney Shaver, of the state police, poured eighteen gallons of contraband whisky down a rain spout in the rear of the office of Magistrate Clark. The body and on being cleaned revealed its secret.

liquor had been captured in raids by the state police. Before entering the spout the "hootch" ran over a tin roof, and, after the liquor had disappeared it was found that the red paint on the roof was blistered.

"No wonder that 'hootch' has a kick," Magistrate Clark said. Anybody who would drink that stuff health."

JURY TAMPERING IS ALLEGED IN LABOR DISPUTE

Defense Attorneys Ask Dismissal of Accused Man At Chicago Trial.

CHICAGO, July 27.—(By International News Service.)—Excitement reigned in the courtroom of Judge Thomas Taylor Jr. today when charges were made that one of the jurors in the Murphy-Mader-Shea trial—the "big three" of the Chicago labor war—was a friend of state's witnesses and that surreptitious smiles had been exchanged between the witness, the juror and the special prosecutor.

Attorneys for the defense demanded an immediate dismissal of Juror J. H. Simpson, who lives across the street from Henry O'Callaghan, master plumber and state's witness. They asked that the trial be put over until fall and then resumed with eleven jurors. Judge Taylor excused the jury from the room during the legal squabble and then said he would look up points of law in connection with the controversy.

GUN INCH LONG.
NEW YORK, July 27.—(United Press.)—Whether a man selling one-inch-long guns is violating the laws of New York the courts have been called upon to decide. While the toy weapon in question is the size of a watch chain, the noise of its explosion in the courtroom caused the judge to take a few days in deciding the matter. The gun is an Austrian invention, imported for Fourth of July celebrations.

Wrinkles That Form Around Eyes and Mouth

Advices Old-Time Recipe of Buttermilk Cream in New Way, a Gentle Massage with Fingers Before Retiring All That Is Necessary.

There is no secret about it, nor is there any doubt about the result—it's just common, ordinary wrinkles in the form of a wonderful cream gently massaged with the fingertips around the corners of the eyes and mouth.

To prove this to your complete satisfaction, obtain a small quantity of Howard's Buttermilk Cream. It is any good drug or toilet goods counter on the money back if dissatisfied plan. The directions are simple and it costs so little that any girl or woman can afford it. If you cannot obtain locally send 10 cents (all over or stamps) for generous trial package of both Cream and Soap. Howard Bros. Co., 21 Main St., San Francisco, Calif.—Advertisement.

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup of glass with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy; it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.—Advertisement.

Cuticura Soap IS IDEAL For the Hands

FIERY, ITCHY SKIN
QUICKLY SOOTHED WITH SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing soothes fiery skin eruption so quickly, says a noted skin specialist.

The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up. A small jar of Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any good drug store.—Advertisement.

EASTBAY GREETES RAILWAY AD MEN

Advertising experts representing practically all of the principal railroads of the United States visited the Eastbay district yesterday, accompanied by their wives, and were tendered a reception at the Hotel Oakland as guests of the city. On their arrival here they were met by a delegation from the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations, headed by J. J. Roseborough, and were taken on an automobile tour of the Eastbay section.

At the conclusion of the automobile tour the reception at the Hotel Oakland was held, in the course of which an address was given by Fred E. Reed on the subject of "Oakland." A musical program was also given and each guest was presented with a souvenir picture of Lake Merritt.

Other members of the reception committee besides Roseborough were: William L. McDonald, George Mellon, Roy Milligan, N. J. Whelan, C. W. Hightower, W. D. Southwick, Walter Martin, L. F. Galbraith, A. Vandewater, Louis Aber, Woodson Ross, Don Reed, R. A. Podlech, Larry Lund, George Young, F. M. Davidson, Martin E. Marks, W. C. Jurgens, Charles E. Vehn, A. H. Shadley, Fred E. Reed, W. T. Tupper, L. H. Richardson, James Warrack, B. A. Forsterer, Henry Greenrose, Charles I. Anderson, W. H. Davenport, R. J. Pickett, Arthur Finn, Blanks Everett, Orton E. Lucas and P. M. Kerrick.

The visitors are on a ten-day tour of Northern California. Their itinerary so far has taken in Truckee, Lake Tahoe, the Hetch-Hetchy valley, Yosemite valley and the bay district. Their present plans are to leave Del Monte on Friday for their homes in the east.

The commercial organizations about the bay invited the advertising men here to show them the beautiful and natural advantages of Northern California.

The visitors were guests at a luncheon given yesterday at the Palace hotel in San Francisco by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and other organizations. At the luncheon J. M. Gibbon of Montreal spoke on behalf of the advertising men. Gibbon represents the Canadian Pacific railroad.

The government boat bearing the party, which numbered about 50 persons, docked at the foot of Broadway at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The visitors reached California on July 18.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allen's, to others who took it, with what might be called marvellous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed druggists everywhere to dispense Allen's with the understanding that if the first pint bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment.—Advertisement.

Lebanon, Indiana.—"I was completely run down from women's troubles and stomach trouble and for a long time was hardly able to do my work. I had some friends who had taken Lydia E. Britain Refuses to Alter 3-Mile Rule

LONDON, July 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—With reference to the note from the Washington government, asking cooperation in the suppression of liquor running into the United States through Bermuda and the Bahamas, it is understood the British government has informed Washington that the three-mile rule cannot be altered. Great Britain takes the ground that she is unable to make a precedent allowing the seizure of such vessels outside that limit. The government, however, is consulting with the colonial governments concerned with respect to clearance papers, change of registry and other points.

90 Days To Reduce HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Here is an actual testimonial from a prominent San Franciscan, telling of the results he got from the Witter Water Treatment:

"Three months ago I bought a case of Witter Water. I immediately commenced to drink it. I had my physician make a test and learned that my blood pressure was 175 (my age is 54). After a month he found it to be 160 and two weeks later it stood at 155, where it remained during three further tests taken at intervals of about two weeks. A week ago I had it taken again and it was 150.

"The Water has been taken in accordance with your directions and you will see from the foregoing that the treatment has been most successful. My pressure now being normal.

Under Doctor's Directions
The man who wrote the letter above took no "chances" with Witter Water, for he continued to keep himself under his physician's care while taking it. Write us today and just 90 days to bring his blood pressure from the abnormal point of 175 to the normal pressure of 120.

Germany to Frame Papers' Editorials

British Navy Safe From Air, Is Claim

M'Lafferty TELLS OF RECORD

ALAMEDA, July 27.—Declaring that he was in the position of a man applying for a job, James M. Lafferty spoke last night before the United Republican Club in English hall, Alameda, giving his qualifications for congressmen.

"You have advertised for a congressman," said the speaker, "and I am addressing you as my prospective employer. I worked first at my trade at a bench and later became a salesman. I have made 68 trips across the continent and more than 100 trips between San Diego and Portland selling goods. I established three big paper houses. At present my business is insurance, in which I am successful."

"I submit that the government of the United States is the biggest business in the world and should be run by business men. We need some lawyers, but we need more business men, and it is upon my record as a business man that I apply for the position of congressman from the sixth district."

Judge Elmer Johnson, Henry Morgenstern and Charles Porcup also addressed the club. Plans will be announced next Wednesday for the proposed reception of Senator Johnson in Alameda.

Moore Endorsed By P. P. I. E. Board

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Charles C. Moore, who has announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for United States senator, today received the endorsement of the officers and directors of the women's board of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. The board is calling upon all friends of the exposition to vote for Moore, says:

"In our close observation of his capabilities as the wise, careful and successful administrator of the exposition and our knowledge of the man in his personal business connections at private life, we consider him in every way capable and worthy to represent the state of California."

Those who signed the public appeal for support for Moore are: Mrs. Abbie E. Krebs Wilkins, Mrs. John Johns, Mrs. C. Edward Holmes, Mrs. Charles C. Wright, Mrs. Max C. Sloan, Mrs. Henry T. Scott, Mrs. George A. Pope, Mrs. Robert Oxnard, Miss Laura Livingston McKinstry, Mrs. Jesse W. Lillenthal, Mrs. Prentiss Cobb, Hale, Mrs. Jesse Brooks Hale, Joseph D. Grant, Mrs. I. Lowenberg, Mrs. John P. Merrill, Mrs. Ernest S. Simpson, Mrs. Joseph A. Donohoe, Mrs. Gaillard Stoney, Mrs. Edward R. Dimond, Mrs. Charles W. Slack.

Friends of Young Aid His Campaign

The Alameda county friends of Lieutenant Governor C. C. Young have formed an organization to promote his campaign for re-election. The lieutenant governor has a legion of supporters in his home county that his record as a public official is emphasized throughout the state.

Heading the executive committee of this Central C. C. Young club are the names of former Governor Pardee, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, Judge Donahue and the four state senators from Alameda county.

The closing of the lists for nomination shows the office of lieutenant governor, like that of governor and United States senator, with only two contestants for the republican nomination. This was brought about, in the case of the lieutenant governor, by the action of State Senator Will R. Sharkey of Martinez, who had been named to become a candidate, but who refused to run against Mr. Young. In respect to this, Senator Sharkey says:

"In the years he served as speaker of the assembly and as presiding officer of the senate, our lieutenant governor has made such a splendid record, and I have come to regard him with such warmth of respect and friendship, that I could not bring myself to oppose him or help create a situation which might give encouragement to any opponent."

Bureau Will Aid Vote Registration

The registration bureau at the Hall of Records will be kept open extra hours to accommodate such voters as have not yet qualified by registration to vote at the primary election. County Clerk E. Gross and Deputy J. O. Wagner, in charge of registration, have arranged to keep the bureau open Thursday and Friday nights until 9 o'clock and on Saturday night as long as the voters keep coming in.

Uptown registration booths will be kept open also. The one in front of Lehigh, on Broadway, will be open tonight and tomorrow night 7 to 9 o'clock, and on Saturday night until 10. The second bureau is at Capwell. Complete registration, including changing of party affiliations and new registrations may be done at both of these booths.

Political Notes.

The Melrose Republican club met Tuesday night and endorsed the following candidates: U. S. Senator, Hiram Y. Johnson; House of Representatives, Harry Boyle; assemblyman, Edward J. Smith; tax collector, Edward Planer; assessor, Louis J. Kennedy; treasurer, Wells Drury; district attorney, Ezra W. Decoto; sheriff, Frank Barnett; constables Brooklyn Township, Billy Allen and Tom Carroll, and police judge, Edward J. Tyrrell.

E. F. Garrison, county auditor, spoke before the Scouts of Berkeley Tuesday night on the budget system. He also pointed out that while the increase of business in the last eleven years amounted to 400 per cent, the overhead to take care of this business showed only an increase of 74 per cent.

The amount of bonds outstanding in 1911 amounted to $2,200,000 as against $9,000,000 today.

David D. Oliphant, candidate for Congress to succeed the late J. Arthur Euston, today visited the eastern end of the county. In San Leandro, Hayward, Niles, Irvington, Pleasanton and Livermore he met with leading groups of citizens and set forth his platform.

Rings Up "No Sale," Then Pockets Money

FORT BRAGG, July 27.—John Lakeman, 60-year-old clerk in the Navy store of the Union Lumber company, confessed to county authorities today that he had stolen more than $1000 from the store since March 1 by ringing up "No Sale" on the cash register and pocketing the money paid by customers.

Lakeman's confession followed his arrest, which occurred yesterday as the result of an investigation. Suspicion was first directed against Lakeman, sheriff's officers said today, when it was noticed that the store's profits during fishing season were lower than usual, and also that Lakeman was apparently spending more than he was earning.

"WILKENS TRIAL AUGUST 30." SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—The district attorney's office today said that Henry Wilkens, accused of complicity in the killing of his wife, will probably be brought to trial August 30.

TRACY ATHLETIC CLUB IS URGED

TRACY, July 27.—A social-athletic club for Tracy was discussed at the Lions club luncheon Wednesday afternoon and a committee consisting of L. L. Wilson, B. S. Crittenden and P. L. Jackson was appointed to investigate the situation and find the best manner of organizing one and procuring a clubhouse, gymnasium and swimming pool for its use.

Attorney B. S. Crittenden called the attention of the club to the need of such an institution similar to the Y. M. C. A. in this "man's town," being among other things a railroad division point. He suggested the formation of a stock company which should erect building, rent its office and store space, contain reading and social rooms with pool table and other facilities. He stated that it should be self-sustaining. L. L. Wilson called attention to the two fine school building gymnasiums being completed and the feasibility of putting in a municipal swimming pool near the city water works, where the supply of water is at hand, the land available, and waste water could be disposed of in the irrigation ditch. The committee expects for a workable co-operative plan.

Despondent Chinese Commits Suicide

WATSONVILLE, July 27.—Boys swimming in the Pajaro river yesterday afternoon stumbled over the body of Fong Lee, Chinese merchant of Watsonville. A bullet wound over his left temple and a .38 caliber revolver at his side told of suicide committed during despondency, to which, his friends told the police, he had been disposed recently because of worry over financial reverses in the past year.

Coroner Gille Cornett of Monterey county held an inquest last evening and a verdict of suicide was returned. Fong was 60 years of age. He leaves a wife and two children.

A Gallon of Red Crown takes you farther

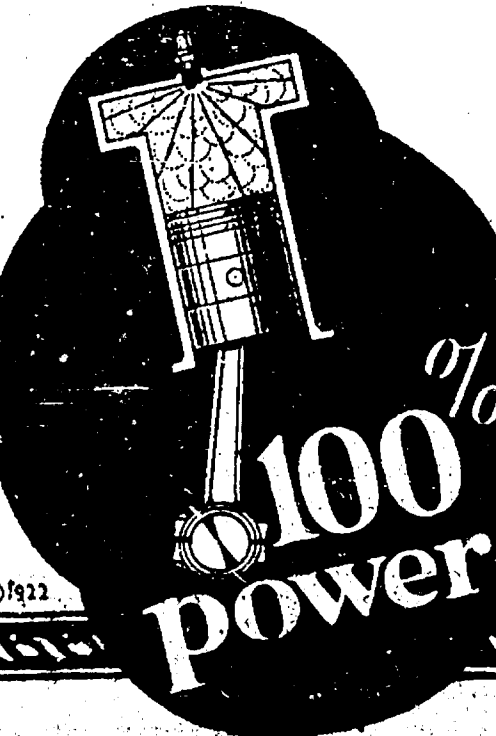

Prove it for yourself. Get a fresh tankful of "Red Crown," and then feel the strength of your motor. Note the increased power on the hills. Note the smoothness of starting and acceleration. Keep track of your mileage, and you'll find that it pays to stick to "Red Crown."

In six successive Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy Runs, all cars entered used "Red Crown" and nothing else. Here is practical, public recognition on the part of automotive engineers, that "Red Crown" meets the demand for a motor fuel that will vaporize rapidly and uniformly in the carburetor, and be consumed completely in the cylinders.

Use "Red Crown" exclusively and you will reduce carbon trouble to a minimum, do away with the need of carburetor adjustments, and enable your car to develop the maximum of power and mileage that its makers built into it.

Fill at the Red Crown sign—at Service Stations, garages, or other dealers.

SPECIALISTS TO INSPECT HAYWARD POULTRY FLOCKS

Plan Now Under Way to Increase Profits By Breeding Improved Stock.

HAYWARD, July 27.—Twenty-seven of the leading poultry specialists of American colleges will inspect Hayward poultry flocks and the new method of increased production through improved stock, trap nesting and inspecting flocks, on August 2, it was announced today. The poultry specialists, with R. B. Eason, poultry specialist of the University of California, as guide, will be escorted into Hayward and through the poultry districts by members of the Alameda county farm bureau, headed by Russell T. Robinson, county agricultural agent, and the Chamber of Commerce.

The poultry specialists will come to Hayward following a convention of poultry instructors of American colleges which is now in session at Corvallis, Oregon, on the campus of the Oregon Agricultural college. Poultrymen of this district are anxiously waiting the completion of the first inspection of flocks of the members of the Hayward Poultry Breeders' association by G. W. Kretzinger and the consequent indication of the success of the plan to increase profits through the introduction of improved stock. The importance of the matter was indicated today by Russell T. Robinson, county agricultural agent, of the Alameda county farm bureau and an important factor in the formation of the association, who said that $10,000 will be added to the annual income of poultrymen of the section should the plan be at all successful.

The association provides that its members will breed only tested stock, and that the stock will be trap-nested and inspected. Hatcherymen have entered into the scheme by agreeing to buy eggs only from such flocks.

F. C. Steiner, president of the association, and members of the association, are confident of the success of the scheme. The plan was partially tried out here last season, and with such success, it is said, that little difficulty was experienced in gaining members to the new association. The plan is being carefully watched by breeders and hatcherymen all over the state. Contra Costa poultrymen are already willing to join in the move, while Santa Cruz breeders and hatcherymen are watching the situation carefully.

It is expected that Kretzinger's inspection will be completed by Saturday. Immediately following the completion of the inspection the early results of the plan will be made known.

Hays Is Welcomed By Filmdom of L. A.

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—(By United Press.)—Filmdom saluted to Will H. Hays, and the king, smiling benignly, answered that with soft and tender voice. Hays, responding to the eulogy, declared:

"I hope I shall never hear or see printed again the statement that my attitude is one of a dictator, ruler or the thing of the sort. He then outlined his hopes, his aims for the industry in which he said he was to be a partner, a co-worker.

STATE GROWTH IN INDUSTRIES SHOWN ON MAP

Comprehensive Information
Included On Topographical Chart.

Marked industrial development and economic growth are graphically shown in a new map of California, just issued by the State Railroad Commission. The new map is a complete revision of the map issued by the commission January 1, 1916. The present edition is officially of January 1, 1922.

Unusual effort has been directed toward making this map complete, and accurate as to boundary lines, township and range lines, location of cities, towns, waterways, mountain ranges and peaks. Railroads and other transportation facilities have been given particular attention and the complete state highway system, compiled from data furnished by the State Highway Commission, is shown.

In addition to the large map of the state, there are inset maps of San Francisco and vicinity, Los Angeles and vicinity, San Diego and vicinity, and the city of Sacramento.

This map is printed in nine colors. A fine halftone over print of color gives for the mountain ranges of a plastic relief. National parks and monuments and the bird reserves are shown in light purple. Indian reservations have a brown tint and military and government reserves are shown in red. Boundaries of the state and counties are indicated in yellow. Five colors are utilized to show the steam and electric interurban railways.

All villages, towns and cities shown on the map are listed, with an index to location. The population according to the federal census of 1920 is also given. Complete lists of steam and electric railroads are shown, with the mileage of each in operation on January 1, 1922.

The map, embodying the various insets and other information, is issued in two styles: first, on heavy bond paper, 18x22 inches, ready to hang on the wall. The scale is fifteen miles to the inch. Copies of the map may be obtained from the publisher, 870 Market street, San Francisco.

Howell A. Powell, pioneer resident of the Eastbay cities and widely known in legal circles, died suddenly at his home, 2703 Dwight way, Berkeley, last night. Funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. from the Powell residence. Interment will be private.

Powell was born in Brecon, South Wales. He was 70 years old. A widow, Mrs. Mary Ellen Powell, two daughters, and two sons survive. They are Miss Eva Powell, former president of Ebbell and of the Oakland Young Women's Christian Association, now engaged in Young Women's Christian Association work in the east; Miss Helen Powell of Berkeley; Dr. Alvin Powell, director of the Alameda County Public Health Center, and Stanley Powell.

Business in Vallejo and Return With Son.

VALEJO, July 27.—Frank Lewis, only son of the late Housekeeper Santa Clara and Virginia streets, was busy today endeavoring to dispose of his business interests so that he could buy a car and arrange for an early return to Berkeley. Lewis, who says he is 72 years of age, but looks not over 60, was joined by his 18-year-old son Harvey H. Lewis of Montana early this week, the young man walking most of the way to California to find his "Dad" and bring him back home. Harvey, when interviewed today, made light of his long hike across the country. He said that he was exactly one month on the road, the remainder of the time he worked at ranches and in towns to make enough money to pay for his food. The young man is a farmer, but his simple and his long hike and his straightforward story of his travels helped him along many a weary mile, according to his statement, and now he is ready to start home. He had forgotten all the trials and tribulations and is eagerly looking forward to the return trip in their own car.

"Dad and I looked at a car today, and as soon as he sells out here we will start for home in that machine," said Lewis to The TRIBUNE representative. "It will be great to ride home in a car, and walking for a month. Say, when I arrived in San Francisco early this week and was unable to find Dad I felt pretty blue. The police were kind and they even inserted an advertisement in the paper in an effort to locate father. Some woman in Vallejo who saw the announcement telephoned into the office in the city that he was in Vallejo and I did not lose any time in getting in touch with him, and will stay with him here until he disposes of his business interests."

Dad Lewis is justly proud of his boy, and says that he is more than pleased to be able to make the trip back with him to Montana. According to the elder Lewis he came west over three years ago in an effort to locate father. Some woman in Vallejo who saw the announcement telephoned into the office in the city that he was in Vallejo and I did not lose any time in getting in touch with him, and will stay with him here until he disposes of his business interests."

Wilhoit Estate Is More Than Million

STOCKTON, July 27.—The estate of the late R. E. Wilhoit, Stockton pioneer, is valued at $1,118,164, according to W. W. Hubbard, inheritance tax appraiser. Of this amount, $740,170 is the appraised value of the Wilhoit real estate holdings. The balance of the estate is in stocks and bonds.

This is one of the largest estates ever probated in San Joaquin county.

Among the most valuable pieces of property left are the Wilhoit building on Main street, the T. & D. theater building, and most of the stock in the Yosemite building.

POLICE SEEKING KIDNAPERS OF HAYWARD GIRL

Mother of Barbara Lewis
Swears Out Warrants
For Couple.

SAN JOSE, July 27.—Peace officers throughout the state, urged by a frantic mother, are searching for 17-year-old Barbara Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. "John Doe" Turner. A warrant has been issued for the latter in Judge Charles Witter's court, charging them with kidnapping.

The girl has been missing since yesterday morning. She came here with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Lewis, to work in the cannery canneries. The Lewis family has its home in Hayward, at 1175 D street.

Mrs. Lewis accuses Mr. and Mrs. Turner of kidnapping her daughter. She hints that they desired to have the girl marry a crippled son of the Turners in Lathrop.

The Turners lived next to the Lewis cotenant, the colony of cottages maintained by the cannery. According to the mother Mrs. Turner and her husband talked to her daughter a great deal. According to Mrs. Lewis, the girl was seen to go to her home during her absence and talk with her daughter. After a few moments, according to Mrs. Lewis, the girl, weeping bitterly, issued from the house. Mr. and Mrs. Turner walking on either side.

The trio was stopped and asked where they were going by a Mrs. Moran, employed by the cannery to look after the girls. "She'll be alright in a minute," Turner told Mrs. Moran. "We're taking her for a little walk."

Miss A. E. Johnson, of the university's nursing unit, drove the machine that struck the boy, and administered first aid treatment to the injured youth.

"DOG MAN" BACK AT UNIVERSITY IN NEW STAND

BERKELEY, July 27.—"Bill, the Dog Man," has come back. Homeless for weeks, Bill and his famous "dog meat" are "at home" to their friends again in Berkeley at 2077 University avenue.

An institution in Berkeley for years, especially among college students, "Bill's" smiling face and famous eats have been among the missing because an expiring lease drove him from his old location on Center street.

In private life "Bill, the Dog Man," is W. J. Henderson. He has been a resident of the college city for many years and is known to college students of a generation or more.

C. of C. Men Hold Up Train Near Turlock

TURLOCK, July 27.—Some sixty members of the convention railway advertising men who have been on a visit to Yosemite valley passed through here today, and they received a surprise when the members of the Turlock Chamber of Commerce held the train up while the distributed cantaloupes, the best the district could produce, to everyone on the train, passengers and crew and all. The cantaloupes were packed in special crates for the purpose and the visitors were mightily pleased with the hospitality bestowed upon them by the Turlock businessmen. Don Mahaffy, fruit shipper, led the band of providers, and he had able assistants in Will Berg and J. V. Baker. The spokesman for the visitors expressed the regret of the party at their inability to stay longer at Turlock and give the district the once over; also they were disappointed in not being able to visit the Don Pedro dam, so they said.

Landmark At Merced Destroyed By Fire

MERCED, July 27.—The old Cunningham home, a landmark built in 1854, has been destroyed by a grass fire which burned over 120 acres of pasture 12 miles from here on the Yosemite highway. The structure was close to the early-day main road between Los Angeles and Stockton, and had many interesting associations with those stirring times.

Explosion of Tire Breaks Arm, Nose

SHATTUCK AVE. SIGNAL TOWER PLAN DISCUSSED

Question Debated But Tax
Problem Obstructs Final Decision.

BERKELEY, July 27.—A signal tower similar to one on Fifth avenue, New York, which with "dog my" towers, would regulate all traffic on Shattuck avenue, was recommended last night by Chief of Police August Vollmer at a meeting held in the council chamber of the city hall under the auspices of the Downtown Merchants' association and the city council.

That mechanical devices for the regulation of auto traffic are more efficient than traffic officers was the chief's statement. He declared that, as an economic measure, railroad officials would probably agree to the installation of the signal tower and its subsidiary devices as a means of having large sums now paid to flagmen. That the city would maintain the safety signal system once it was installed was the chief's statement.

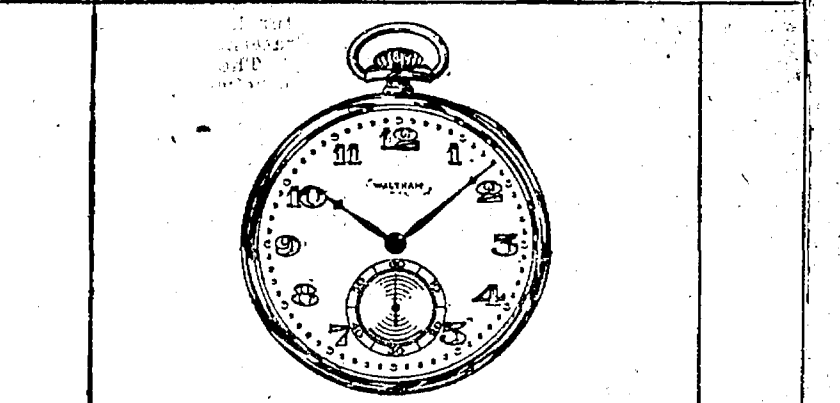

Last night's meeting was called by the merchants to discuss traffic regulations needed for the business section of the city. A suggestion of the association that it be allowed to pay for the traffic officers was vetoed by the council on the ground that present legislation prohibits the employment of any private patrolmen in the college city.

Councilman Carl Bartlett declared that it would be some months before a mechanical signal system could be installed even should all parties concerned agree to the plan, and he urged that $300 be saved from the present budget to provide for the immediate employment of two traffic officers. He announced his intention of placing such a motion before the council at tomorrow's meeting and urged the merchants to support him in the proposal.

Councilman Charles D. Heywood, commissioner of public health and safety, declared that nothing could be done to alleviate traffic conditions until the dollar tax limit was raised to allow sufficient finances for needed improvements. He declared that he would personally stump the city for the raising of the tax rate.

The meeting, which was largely attended by downtown business men, adjourned without special recommendations being made to improve present conditions.

FOREIGN TRADE

Foreign trade figures for the United States for the last fiscal year present a problem in relativity. The total is less than that of a year ago, more than during the pre-war period, and greater than was expected. Imports declined a little over a billion in dollars and exports fell off more than two billion and a half. So immense is the business of trade that even in a computation wherein the gains and losses are reckoned by billions the trade of the country, in a year which was called a slack one, was way above normal. Total exports and imports for 1921-22 were $6,377,000,000 against $4,257,000,000 in 1914. A new stimulus will come to foreign trade when the countries of the world, including this one, are back on a full producing basis. When peace returns to China and that country assumes a strong financial footing, exports will leap forward to new and surprising totals. When it is considered that for more than a half of the year in question Eastern industrial centers were working on part time, the record in foreign trade is better than might have been expected.

WHERE BUDGET WORKED.

Proof of the benefits of a budget system in government is to be found in Sweden where, since the reform was started in 1911, a first class financial system has been built. Progress in State finances, unparalleled in the history of the country, has characterized the past decade. In the scheme not only have the technical requirements of a good budget been given consideration by adopting modern principles of estimating, bookkeeping, and auditing, but the actual conditions have been taken care of in such a way that no weak points remain as a result of the war financial emergency which struck at neutrals as well as belligerents. In War Commissions the Government lost the immense sum of 100,000,000 kronor. This sum, as well as the loans for military purposes have been covered by means of the current income and a surplus of 300,000,000 kronor has been accumulated. A krona is equivalent to 26.8 cents. To be sure the country has been taxed and taxed heavily. Huge sums were spent, and are being spent, to relieve unemployment and, with the surplus available, the demand is made that income taxes which are retarding a business revival be supplanted by the old and direct method of taxation. The country is not without its problems, but it is on the way to prosperity, its army and navy have been reduced, and the drains upon the taxpayers are being lessened. Through the crisis the nation's financial structure, built on the budget plan, stood the strain to emerge with new and greater claims for respect.

IS STILL A PROBLEM.

Enthusiasm may often mean an easy acceptance of promise as accomplishment. When it occasions a slackening of effort it may handicap endeavor. Something of the kind, and there is tragedy in the situation, has taken place but recently in connection with the scientific researches into the causes and cure of leprosy. Announcement of chaumogroa oil as a "cure" for the disease brought joy to millions who were quick to respond to a promise which would mean an end to the miseries of a comparatively small number of their fellows. "Cures" were made and the world, as is its habit, dismissed the subject as one closed. Chaumogroa oil, men will say everywhere, is an infallible cure for leprosy. Science does not recognize the fight as won. As much may be lost by a relaxation of vigilance, it says, as was won in years of study. No one knows the causes of the waxing and waning incidence of leprosy; our present immunity does not lessen the necessity of being on guard. Until the basic causes of the disease are determined, the scientist says, there can be no victory. There are abundant grounds for rejoicing in progress which has been made. Many cases of leprosy have been cured by the new treatment, but many have failed to respond. There must be no relaxation of standard precautions and no acceptance of extravagant claims.

CROPS MUST BE MOVED.

Results of the coal and rail strikes are becoming increasingly apparent. In California the serious question is one of a threatened shortage of refrigerator cars and the inability to move the great crops from the interior valleys. In the East the steel mills need coal. An agricultural community which feeds millions of persons from one end of the country to the other and which stakes its year's labor and hopes on the growth and ripening of trees or vines sees in the tieup of transportation facilities a prospect of irreparable loss. The problem comes home, affects producer and consumer who have nothing to do with the causes or arguments of the strikes, and is quite aside from the merits of the position of either of the contestants. In the San Joaquin Valley a committee which has taken no sides on the strike issue is appealing for help. It believes that, in the emergency, the striking railroad employees may offer help; it is not asking for guards or troops, but it is placing the voices of thousands of families whose livelihood is at stake behind an appeal that something be done to move the crops.

LUNCHEONS AND PEACE.

Stated crudely, it may be possible even for a world to eat its way to international peace. Members of a luncheon club in Oakland this week heard the idea expounded with convincing eloquence and carried away with them, in addition to the customary dainties, food for mental digestion. For six days in the week, in every city in the country, luncheon clubs are meeting in the fellowship of business and love of community. Men are learning to know one another, to exchange views and problems, and to discover in fields, seemingly wide apart, mutual experience and ideals. A growth of this neighborly spirit to extend across the Atlantic and Pacific, a realization on the part of the businessmen who make up the average citizenry that war is needless and criminal, and a general widening of vision may mean the coming of permanent peace. A speaker before the local club foresaw the day when the ordinary ties of business friendship will be cemented in Europe and the Orient, when retail dealers in one line will hold convention in Paris while those of another meet at Tokyo. He recognized in that fellowship which is the best asset of the luncheon club a promise for the future. Wars have been brewed over tencups. Is it impossible that everlasting peace may attend the luncheons?

GLORIOUS FAILURE.

A glorious failure was that of the men who were not able to reach the top of Mt. Everest. Forced to turn back without achieving their object, they reached a point higher than the summit of any other peak on the globe, a higher point than ever before was attained. Why did they risk their lives for an arduous climb up frozen slopes? What reward did they expect to find on the top of this defiant peak? When they confessed defeat two miles below the heights which had tempted them across seas and perilous rings of foothills, what were their thoughts and where was their triumph? Years ago Mount Blanc, "monarch of mountains" was scaled and a world responded to the excitement of the conquerors. Not long ago Matterhorn gave up its mystery and then Mount McKinley surrendered its crest. A sonnet, a mountain, fortune, or fame may be the goal of ambition. It is not vain to seek the heights or the Poles. There is in man a call for adventure and achievement not possessed by any of the animals. It is that which has discovered continents, peopled waste places, and changed the thought of civilization.

The case reported from Redding may be an illustration of how auto drivers who are responsible for deaths get off. The driver of a stage was arrested for manslaughter on the complaint of a woman whose husband and infant son had lost their lives in an accident, for which the driver was charged with responsibility. At the preliminary hearing the accused was discharged because, the authorities represented, the complaining witness "apparently had forgotten" much of her story on which the charge was based. If one whose husband and child have been killed suffers from lapse of memory as to the particulars of its happening when the person charged with its responsibility is up for a hearing, what may be expected of the bystander who may be hailed forth to tell how it was?

The woman who asked the president of the State University how to remove lemon spots from silk paid a compliment to that institution in the assumption that its field for service included her problem. It is to be noted that the information was supplied within forty-eight hours and that the letter carrying it was signed by President Barrows. When football season comes it is to be expected the enthusiastic partisans will write in to ask how to "knock the spots" off of Stanford.

Now that Augustus Thomas has been made "czar of the American theaters" the playwright is not to have monopoly of the royalties.

The Banner Bumps One Man. Sir: A banner displayed amidships on the sign of a local real estate agent queries as follows: "Women do the buying don't they?" Of course, we who read and are informed by the Almanac have long ago become aware of that literary axiom, "Alas, it is the woman who pays," or words to that effect. But without starting a lengthy controversy I would like to ask if in your experience it is the woman who buys. Christmas neckties, socks and bum cigars, yes, but it is we of the superior sex who dig down into the pants pockets and pay for the theater, the dinner, the dance, etc., also the babies' shoes, else why the w. k. expression? I believe something should be done in regard to this matter, otherwise the women may acquire an unfounded opinion of their own importance. H. H. R.

Sir—How's this for a sense of humor. It's true. A young Alamedan recently sustained a compound fracture of the leg in an automobile accident. He was rushed to the Emergency hospital for first aid treatment. Shortly after his arrival there, his family's physician came in. After expressing surprise at seeing the unfortunate young man there, the M. D. said: "It's a good thing I dropped in. It was just by accident, I mean. You haven't anything on me, said the man with the broken leg. It was just by accident that I came in." —McG.

The next fiction number for this column will be a tale of "two-gun-men and desperados" from the stuttering typewriter of Jazzy Joe, the office boy. It may be revealed in advance, without betraying any of the secrets of the young author, villains, grammar, and spelling are slaughtered in almost every sentence of the tale. Watch for "Two Gun Bud."

Then, there is being withheld for consideration, a poem by Miss Harris, which is, possibly, the worst poem of bad ones. It may be we will have to summon a jury and give the thing a fair and honorable trial. Or again, we might print it in the Almanac and ask for a vote of confidence.

The reason the government is selling submarine chasers so cheap nowadays is, we take it, a realization of the fact the purchaser, if he intends to take up the sport in earnest, must also buy a submarine.

"It is the belief of the authorities that the explosion was caused by a bottle of 'quor.' Perhaps you noticed the sentence in a story of a mail fire in Richmond and perhaps you speculated as to what would have happened if the bottle had left the mails to repose, as Spinkvintz would say, in the males of the community. Would some of our prominent citizens have exploded? It is just possible that science will discover a means to harness the terrific powers of home brew and bootleg and that which is now contraband will be used to drive the machinery in our factories. A man may run his car forty miles to the pint flask and a new zest and kick will be put in affairs. It is not too much of an effort for optimism, perhaps, to foresee the day when some sane use of the stuff will be made.

The Nature Club. A special meeting of the Nature Club has been called for next Tuesday night at the residence of Mr. Corfinko. The matter of the Corfinko is to be considered. According to information the club has on hand, the sunfish off the coast of Winsted have been biting bathing girls. It is declared the fish attack only those girls who wear suits of many colors, and the only remedy is to splash red, green and yellow. It is Parfinko's idea, if the club will finance the plan, to manufacture swimming suits with fishing attachments that the bather may emerge from the water with the limit of sunfish. NOTES and COMMENT

Gentle cynicism from the Kansas City Star: "A congressman from Georgia invites the Gideons to supply senators and representatives with Bibles. Most persons may assume that the members of congress had been brought up on the Bible and had the book in their homes. But perhaps not. Perhaps that is one thing that is the matter with Washington. So it may be hoped that the Gideons will undertake this work of mercy, with each Bible marked so it will open to Ecclesiastes V:2-3: 'Be not rash with thy mouth, and let not thine heart be hasty to utter anything before God; for God is in heaven and thou upon earth; therefore let thy words be few. . . . A fool's voice is known by multitude of words.'"

The New York Times holds there is no cause for worry in this: "The statement of the Census Bureau that only 29.9 per cent of the people of the United States live on farms may disturb those who think that the trend from the land thus indicated is portentous. But when the religious and moral and economic consequences, the fact that the number of persons engaged in agricultural pursuits has decreased in the last hundred years from 87 per cent to 30 per cent is not in itself ominous. The decline is due in part to an increase in the agricultural productivity of the average farmer."

Music note from the Oregonian: "There used to be a rollicking old song in which the refrain was 'My wife's gone to the country, hurrah, hurrah!' that could be sung with all manner of feeling and gesticulation. This was some years ago when many men took pride in their voices and gargled assiduously, and when phrases were more popular than today. One thing we must thank the phonograph for—the eclipse of vocalists of the close-harmony type. They're out of date, gone, not forgotten, but few would recall them."

The Kansas City Star asks a personal question: "Remember the night your girl's mother called her in off the front porch at 11 o'clock, which was pretty late in those days, and you got mad and swore you'd get even with the old lady if it took a thousand years? Well, the point is, did you ever get even, and if you did, how?"

A hint ancient cause and effect in this, from the Chicago News: "Churchmen who protest against marriage laxity probably are not surprised at such laxity, being aware that cavilling at marriage, throwing contempt upon the idea of family solidarity are parts of the devil's propaganda that is going on all the time."

Inside news of Kansas City, from the Times, published there: "It would be most surprising if a center of the enterprise and dimensions of Greater Kansas City should prove itself unable to remove a big hog pen virtually from its front door. The obnoxious pen has been in its place, just north of the Interlacy viaduct and on the State line, for a number of years, and all efforts to abate the nuisance have resulted in practical failure. Kansas City, Kas., has been active and has legally driven the hogs from that city's limits, but they will stray over the line at times."

The New York Times holds there is no cause for worry in this: "The statement of the Census Bureau that only 29.9 per cent of the people of the United States live on farms may disturb those who think that the trend from the land thus indicated is portentous. But when the religious and moral and economic consequences, the fact that the number of persons engaged in agricultural pursuits has decreased in the last hundred years from 87 per cent to 30 per cent is not in itself ominous. Music note from the Oregonian: "There used to be a rollicking old song in which the refrain was 'My wife's gone to the country, hurrah, hurrah!' that could be sung with all manner of feeling and gesticulation. This was some years ago when many men took pride in their voices and gargled assiduously, and when phrases were more popular than today. One thing we must thank the phonograph for—the eclipse of vocalists of the close-harmony type. They're out of date, gone, not forgotten, but few would recall them."

The Kansas City Star asks a personal question: "Remember the night your girl's mother called her in off the front porch at 11 o'clock, which was pretty late in those days, and you got mad and swore you'd get even with the old lady if it took a thousand years? Well, the point is, did you ever get even, and if you did, how?"

A hint ancient cause and effect in this, from the Chicago News: "Churchmen who protest against marriage laxity probably are not surprised at such laxity, being aware that cavilling at marriage, throwing contempt upon the idea of family solidarity are parts of the devil's propaganda that is going on all the time."

Inside news of Kansas City, from the Times, published there: "It would be most surprising if a center of the enterprise and dimensions of Greater Kansas City should prove itself unable to remove a big hog pen virtually from its front door. The obnoxious pen has been in its place, just north of the Interlacy viaduct and on the State line, for a number of years, and all efforts to abate the nuisance have resulted in practical failure. Kansas City, Kas., has been active and has legally driven the hogs from that city's limits, but they will stray over the line at times."

About YOUR HEALTH

Why Heart Disease Need Not Discourage Anyone
By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A few days ago I read a very remarkable book about the heart. There were two or three statements which are worth repeating. They relate to murmurs and their importance to the victim of heart trouble.

There are endless numbers of persons living in daily fear of early death. They have been told that heart murmurs are present, that unusual exertion may bring fatal results, and consequently the joy of life is gone.

In this book the author speaks of meeting an old man who said: "Today is a very important anniversary in my life. It is just fifty years ago that I was rejected for life insurance on account of heart disease."

He speaks of a patient of his own in these words: "I think the loudest aortic systolic murmur I ever heard was in an old lady, who, with the exception of rheumatism, had remarkably good health and who lived till she was 93."

One of the oldest men I ever knew personally died from heart disease when he was 85 and nursed a bad heart till he died of natural causes at the century mark.

I do not mean to intimate that heart disease should not be given serious attention. It must be considered, but it is decidedly unscientific to consider it apart from the general condition of the victim.

The author I have quoted says of these patients: "One must never discourage these cases. A leaky ship will often make a long and successful voyage, and a heart with a leaky valve will often carry its owner to old age, and will help him to do much excellent work. If you tell such a man that he has incurable heart disease (he may happily be blessed with a saving skepticism) you will have done your utmost to insure the accuracy of your prediction, though your diagnosis may have been gravely wrong. There is no important organ of the body so susceptible to nervous and mental influence as the heart; hope will buoy it up to make renewed and often successful efforts; despair will kill it."

The great authorities warn against hopeless prognostications. One of them says: "Let it always be remembered that frequently sound and healthy hearts show a murmur, and that it is necessary, therefore, to seek for other evidences on which to base a prediction."

The same writer says in effect: Let no single symptom of heart trouble be the ground for forming an unfavorable opinion. The presence of a murmur has so oppressed the profession and the public that a vast amount of positive harm is continuously being done by talking too seriously the significance of this sign.

I am delighted with this writer because he is so optimistic and yet so sane. He says so truly: "The business of a prophet is at all times a dangerous and an unsatisfactory one, whether in medicine or in any other sphere; but, recognizing our fallibility, it is surely better to utter a prophecy like Balaam of old, on the side of blessing rather than of cursing, of optimism rather than of pessimism."

Let the victim of heart trouble have courage and renewed hope.

SISTERS FREED IN TRIAL AFTER RAID BY POLICE

After deliberating for less than twenty minutes, the jury in the case of Miss Sara Erzenbright and her sister, Mrs. Hazel Osborne, charged with conducting an "orderly house" at 133 Greenbank avenue, Piedmont, returned a verdict of complete acquittal.

The case was closed late yesterday and was given to the jury after Assistant District Attorney Frank Shay made his argument for the prosecution and attorneys Myron Harris and L. A. Sullivan argued in behalf of the young women.

The trial was the result of a raid conducted on the home during the early morning of May 31 by Sergeant F. W. Heere and several other officers, during which, according to the police, they found Fred W. Stein, assistant manager of the Hotel Oakland, at the house.

BUILDING LEANS ON NEIGHBOR, SAYS $2000 SUIT

The leaning tower of Pisa is straight as a plumb-line compared to a brick building on Fruitvale avenue, near Hopkins street, according to a complaint filed in the superior court yesterday afternoon on behalf of R. A. McKerricher against E. Roberts. Damages of $2000 are asked in the complaint.

McKerricher, in his complaint, filed by attorneys Dutton, Secombe and McDonough, sets forth that he owns a frame building at Fruitvale avenue and Hopkins street and that the defendant erected a brick building on the lot adjoining. At first there was a two-inch clearance between the buildings, but recently the brick structure has begun to settle, it is alleged, until now the frame building has been forced out of plumb more than three inches.

The complaint recites that large cracks and rents in the walls of the frame structure have caused the plaster to fall and that unless the defendant is compelled to straighten up his building, the plaintiff's property will be destroyed.

Rat War Planned By Health Officials

Prior to the release of new department funds in the 1923-4 budget a special effort is being made by the city health authorities to obtain the required appropriation for a rat-killing campaign which will start as soon as the money is released, co-operating with the state board of health and the United States health service to eliminate or thin out rodents in this county.

According to Health Officer Harry F. Foster, the campaign will be waged with greater intensity than ever before.

"We want a concerted campaign," says Dr. Foster. "San Francisco has built rat proof structures ever since the fire and found it a good investment. Oakland has a big rat area."

B NO. 27.

JOHNSON IS GREETED BY HIS FRIENDS

Supporters of Senator Johnson Rally at Hotel Oakland Levee; Will Fire First Gun in Re-election Fight at L.A.

Oakland was given an opportunity to show Senator Johnson by the hand and learn first-hand of his plans for the future of California and the Nation. Preparations were being made today for the levee at the Hotel Oakland this afternoon by the campaign committee in charge Ben F. Woolner. No set program was outlined and no speeches were scheduled.

The plan of the committee was to give the voters an opportunity to pay a brief visit to Senator Johnson and chat for a few moments with him in the same manner that the San Francisco friends and supporters of the Senator California Senator did yesterday.

That thousands of people representing all walks in life and all manner of organizations will pay their respects to Johnson was the belief of the campaign committee as a result of a host of telephone messages announcing that representatives would come.

Among those who notified the committee were the American Legion, organized labor and various women's associations and civic and patriotic clubs. The levee is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock, and continue for two hours.

FOR SPIRITED CAMPAIGN

Senator Johnson leaves this evening for Los Angeles, where he will fire the first oratorical gun in favor of his re-election to the United States Senate, thus marking the opening of what is heralded as one of the most spirited campaigns in the history of the west.

Since his arrival in California Johnson has done only informal campaigning. There have been no set speeches, and until the Los Angeles start only informal greetings such as the ones in San Francisco and this city, which will be visited again on the campaign.

Yesterday thousands visited the Johnson headquarters in San Francisco and greeted the senator, pledging their support to him in the coming campaign. Those who attended the levee represented all classes, from workmen in their shirt sleeves to dignified jurists.

All through the afternoon he came and went and yet at all times the hall was crowded. It had been profusely decorated with flowers and adorned with banners bearing messages of welcome.

Johnson arrived at 2 o'clock and was given a royal welcome by his friends and supporters.

ALMOND GROWERS' TRIBUTE

One of the features of the informal reception was the presentation of a large basket of almonds and almond candies to the Senator from California, Almond Growers' Association through T. C. Tucker, its manager. Attached to the tribute was the following message:

"To Senator Hiram Johnson in greeting and with a token of high appreciation of his services to the almond growers of this state."

Officers from various parts of the state and old friends of the senator formed the campaign headquarters and spent a moment or two with the senator. There were more than 100 women at the head of the line to greet Johnson before a man broke in.

Bill Curtin, one of the old-time ball players, once connected with the Sacramento team when Senator Johnson was a staunch rooster, prophesied that the senator would be re-elected. "You're the only man with anything on the ball in the senatorial game, and will win with a shut-out."

Here is a partial list of those who yesterday afternoon attended the reception at the Johnson headquarters:

Mayor Ralph J. Johnson, E. Forrest Mitchell, Bert Kahn, R. M. J. Armstrong, Tom Brown, Charles E. Peery, Mrs. Joseph Lawless, Eddie Grancy, R. R. Veale, Mat Tierney, Charles Brennan, Mrs. John Williams, Harry Morrison, M. J. Kelly, Arthur Burton, Col. James Powers.

SHIPBUILDER FIRM FIGHTS ASSESSMENT

Spokesmen for Moore Company Protest "War Plant" Should Be Reduced About $300,000; Action Delayed

A protest against the assessment by the city of Oakland made by the Moore Shipbuilding company brought this morning by Moore representatives to the city council, sitting as a board of equalization. The Moore spokesmen asserted that this "war plant" should now be reduced about $300,000 in assessment, especially as its business has declined and much of the plant is discontinued.

The Moore interests were asked to state their case in writing, and submit an estimate of the property's value on Monday. The present assessment by the city places the plant at $1,182,550, including $630,300 for improvements, $522,250 for machinery, and $30,000 for the leasehold. The Moore representatives said that a war-time valuation of the plant is unjust and does not represent its real value at present. It was asserted that the plant now employs but 300 men at most, and must keep costs down in order to bid for new jobs.

Because of a 33.1 per cent protest against the paving of West-Fourteenth street, the city council deferred final hearing until August 17. Attorney John C. Walsh, representing the protesters, said that property values in that neighborhood cannot stand the cost, especially when the city must keep costs down in order to bid for new jobs.

Thirty-eighth avenue was ordered improved between Sutter and Hopkins; Fifty-second avenue from East Twelfth to Fourteenth; West-Fourteenth from Market to Wood, and Sixty-fourth avenue from East Fourteenth southwesterly. Georgia street was ordered extended east of Midvale avenue.

There being no bidders for the privilege of building a street car line to the Maxwell tract, the matter of this franchise was postponed to an indefinite date in the future. Negotiations, it is said, are still going on between Maxwell and traction company interests.

Taxi Driver Robbed And Car Destroyed

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—A victim of a supposed strike sympathizer, Albert Cranow, driver for the Atlas Taxi Company, was held up, his car seized and the latter almost demolished early today.

Cranow responded to a call at Seventeenth and Market streets. He was confronted by a man with a pistol, who took his watch and forced him to drive him several blocks, reaching a lonely section of the boulevard. The timepiece, threw him from the machine and drove off. At daybreak the police found the stolen cab at the foot of a ravine between the Spring Valley reservoir and the Relief Home.

Oldest Voter in Alameda County Is Ninety-five

When primary election day comes around one of the oldest voters in point of years as well as in the number of times he has cast his ballot will be John P. Brunjes, 1523 East Fourteenth street, 95 years old.

Brunjes was born in Germany, came to Alameda county in 1850. Two years later he voted for the first time. He was not naturalized, but was told that if he intended to become a citizen that he was entitled to vote. In 1855 he received his citizenship papers in Siskiyou county, and shortly thereafter returned to Oakland to reside. At the time he voted first San Leandro was the county seat of Alameda county. He has seen many changes since that time and predicts that the future development of Oakland will be even greater than that of the past, which he has witnessed.

Brunjes is a Republican, and is proud of the fact that he has been a personal friend of Bruns for the years he has been a citizen of the country.

P. W. Wuthe, clerk in the court of Superior Judge E. C. Robinson, a personal friend of Brunjes, went to his home last night to register him.

AUTO STICKER TO COME UNDER BAN OF POLICE

The city's legal and police authorities are mobilizing for a campaign to suppress the more illegal species of election literature, especially the auto sticker, which binds the autoist and contributes to accidents.

City Attorney Leon E. Gray asserted today that the sticking of literature on an automobile constitutes "technical trespass."

Chief of Police James T. Drow says it is a menace to the public. Auto stickers have already appeared on windshields, placed there by youths with little regard for the auto owner's political slants.

A Question and An Answer

The Rev. Father F. P. Joyce, lately a chaplain in the regular army, but now retired, as a result of having been gassed in service overseas with the A. E. F., stands sponsor for this one:

During the great fire in San Francisco a mounted orderly from the Presidio was riding along Mission street at a smart trot. A woman ran out of a house waving her apron at him.

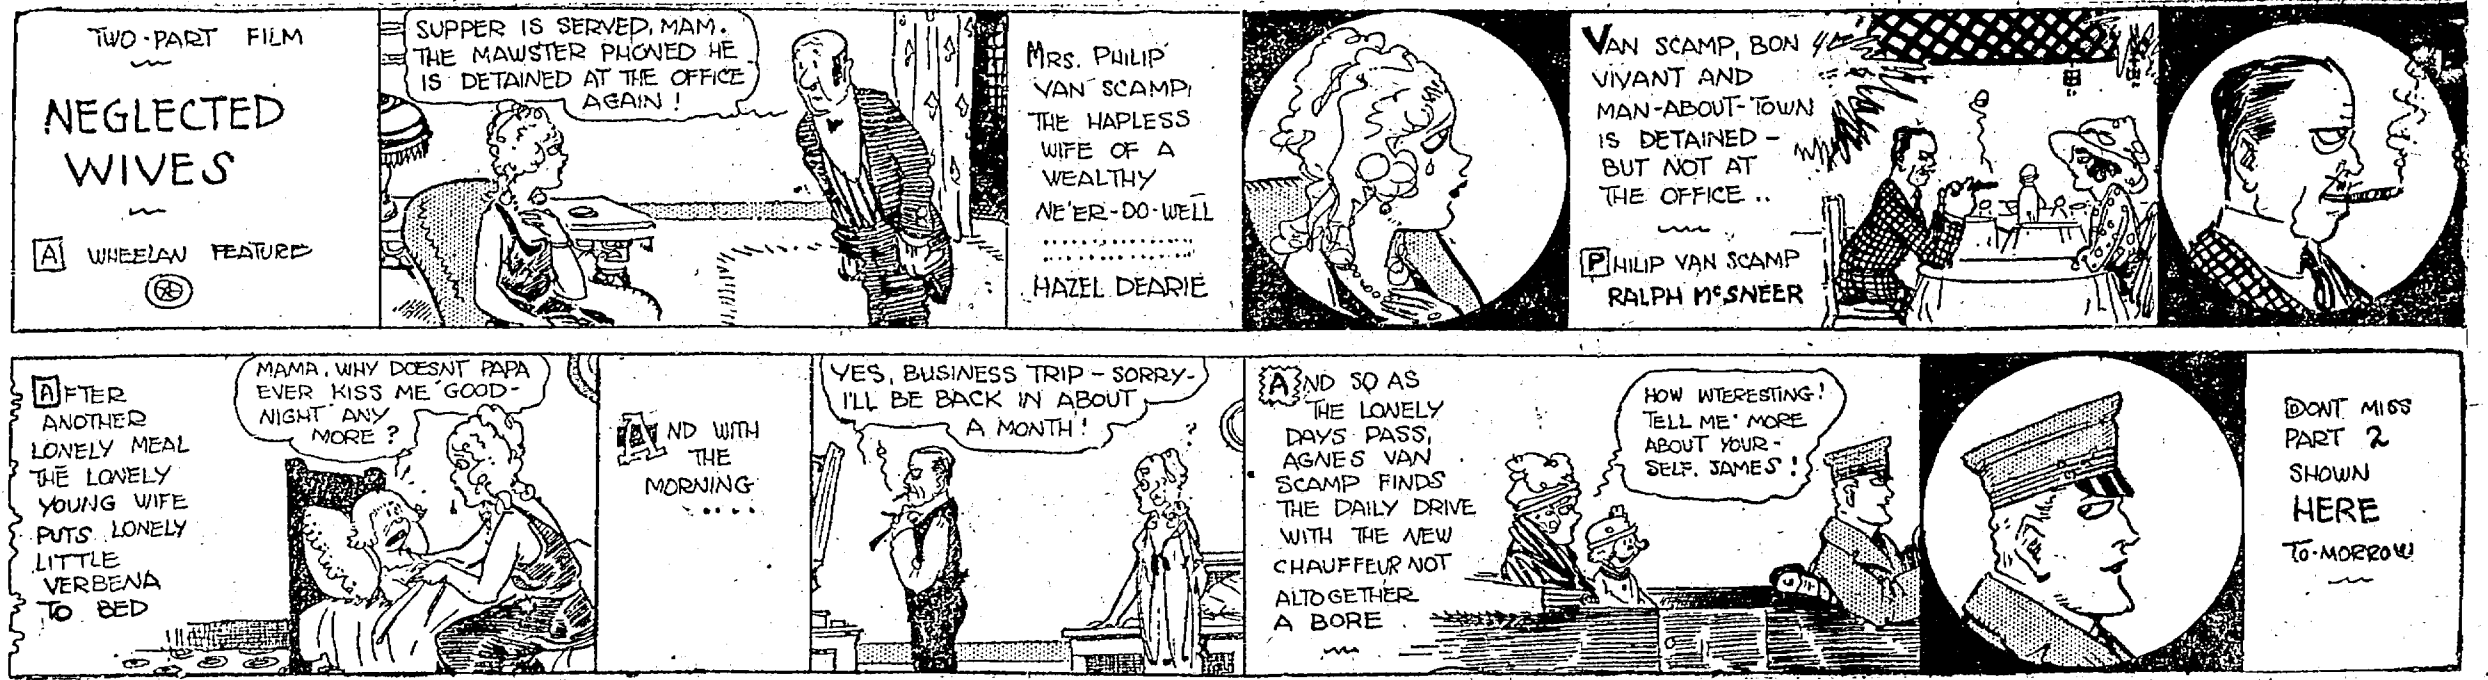

"Oh, Mister Soldier! Mister Soldier!" she called, "Where can I get some milk for our baby?" Without drawing rein the cavalryman saluted as he answered:

"I don't know, ma'am; this animal I'm riding is a horse."

Ancle Wiggily Stories

by HOWARD R. GARR

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BUBBLING SPRING.

UNCLE WIGGILY was hopping through the woods one day, not far from his hollow stump when, all of the sudden, the bunny rabbit gentleman began to feel very thirsty.

"Oh, dear!" he exclaimed, "I wish Susie and Baby Bunty had their lemonade stand here now. I'd take two drinks and part of another one."

Mr. Longears looked this way and that way through the woods, but no lemonade stand did he see, and a good reason, too. There was none there. Susie and Baby Bunty were over at the home of Lulu and Alice Wibble-wobble, the ducks, playing dolls' party.

"But I really must have a drink of some sort!" said Uncle Wiggily, growing more thirsty.

"If I could find a little brook, or even a waterfall, I could get a drink. It is a long way back to my hollow stump bungalow, and it is so long since I was in these woods that I have forgotten where there is any water. Oh, how thirsty I am!" sighed the poor bunny gentleman.

"Ha! Thirsty, are you?" spoke a loud voice just behind Uncle Wiggily. "Well, how would you like to drink at my bubbling spring?"

The bunny rabbit looked around, but for a moment he could see no one. He was about to hop away and hide himself in the bushes, thinking perhaps the "Woosie Wolf" or the "Fuzzy Fox" was trying to play a trick on him, when the loud voice laughed, and asked again:

"How would you like to have a drink from my bubbling spring? Come, you said you were thirsty; how about a drink from my bubbling spring?"

"Who—who are you?" stammered Uncle Wiggily.

"Your old friend Grandpa Bull, the green frog," was the laughing answer, and out from behind a stump hopped Mr. Bull, father the never.

"Oh, I'm so glad it's you!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "You always know where there is water to be found. Take me to your bubbling spring, if you please, though I didn't know you had one."

"Oh, yes, answered Grandpa Bull, hopping along beside Uncle Wiggily. "I have a spring in different parts of the forest, so when I am out, hopping around, I can have a swim and a drink. My bubbling spring is just around the corner from the sassafras bush."

Leading the way, Grandpa Bull showed Uncle Wiggily where to hop, and soon the bunny stood in front of a little clump of stones, in the shape of a well. And inside the circle of stones was a crystal clear pool of cold water.

"There! Have all the drinks you want, Uncle Wiggily!" invited Grandpa Bull.

"Thank you," spoke the bunny. "It is very cool and refreshing," he said, as he strengthened up after having leaped over to sip the cool water. "But why do you call it a bubbling spring, Grandpa? I have seen springs of water that boiled and bubbled,

"Oh, wow!" howled the bad chap.

but this one doesn't do anything like that."

"It does when I make it!" chuckled Grandpa Bull. "Wait a minute and I'll show you!"

Standing on the edge of the spring, Grandpa Bull jumped in head first, making a great splash. Then, as the waters grew quiet, and as Uncle Wiggily looked, the bunny suddenly saw the spring begin to bubble. It spluttered up and down, shooting up into the air and then the water fell back into the spring again as though a hidden fountain were playing beneath the surface.

"Did you see it?" croaked Grandpa Bull, as he popped himself up out of his spring. "Did you see it bubble?"

"Yes, but what made it?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I did," answered the old frog gentleman. "Once I was under water I puffed and I blew out my breath and made the spring bubble. I can do it any time I wish, only of course I don't do it when my friends are drinking."

"I should hope not," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Otherwise their noses would fill with water. If they drank when the spring bubbled, show me again how you do it, Grandpa Bull."

So the old bullfrog gentleman jumped into the spring again, and, hidden-down on the bottom, he puffed and bubbled, sending up bubbles and a fountain of cold water.

"That's wonderful!" said Uncle Wiggily, as the bubbling stopped and Grandpa Bull started to swim out.

"What's wonderful?" asked a growling voice, and there, right beside the bunny, stood the Fuzzy Fox. "What's wonderful?" asked the Fox.

"This spring," said Uncle Wiggily, knowing that Grandpa could hear what was said. "Take a drink from the spring, Mr. Fox, and see how wonderful it is."

"I will!" growled the Fox. "I'll take a drink from the spring and then I'll carry you off to my den!" The Fox leaned over to drink from the spring, but just then, all of a sudden, Grandpa Bull puffed and blew and sent a lot of the cold, sparkling water bubbling up into the face of the Fox.

"Oh, wow!" howled the bad chap! "This must be a geyser! Oh, my nose and my eyes! Oh, dear!" and away he ran, not hurting the bunny at all.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Grandpa Bull, as he bobbed up out of the spring. "That was a good trick, wasn't it, Uncle Wiggily?"

"It surely was!" chuckled the bunny. "Three cheers for the bubbling spring!" And he and Grandpa Bull cheered and cheered.

Do You KNOW?

An ordinary elephant will eat 200 pounds of hay a day.

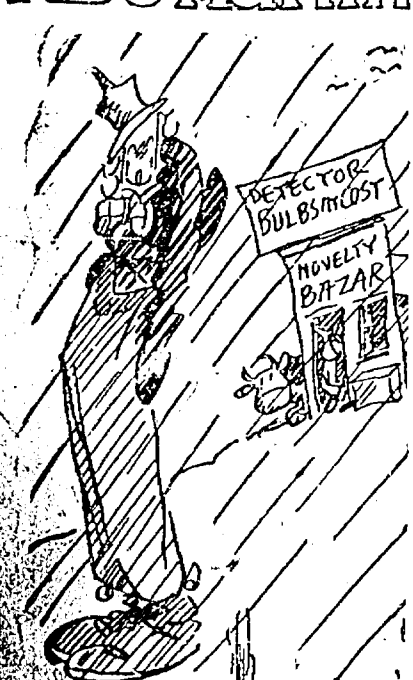

Silk is the cheapest form of clothing material in Madagascar, where even the poorest women are clad in this material.

In Holland it is still the fashion for ladies to wash the dainty china and silver after tea or breakfast in the presence of the family and guests.

There is an ancient Chinese superstition that if you eat enough peaches you will live forever. Many years ago, it is said, a Chinese girl, believing in this superstition, gave her sailor sweetheart a peach seed to carry for good luck on a trip to America. While in this country he lost the seed and from it grew the first peach tree in the United States.

PLANS SUBWAYS UNDER SIDEWALKS

CHICAGO, July 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—Subways under Chicago sidewalks instead of under the city streets, is the plan proposed by D. Chase Denison, Chicago civil engineer, who contends that such an improvement could be built at less than half the cost of the ordinary type of underground railway and at a tenth of the cost.

Only a small portion of such a subway system as Chicago needs can be built at the depth that would be necessary if excavation should be made under the street proper, owing to the expense, according to Denison, who has submitted to U. S. Schwartz, chairman of the Chicago council transportation committee, a plan for a subway system ten or twelve feet deep.

under the sidewalks instead of twenty-five to fifty feet deep under the streets.

It is understood that application has been made to the United States patent office for protection of the plan, which Denison believes applicable to other cities.

"The city of Chicago owns the streets of the city including the sidewalks up to the building lines," said Denison. "The city has the right to lease to the surface the space under the sidewalks for the car lines. This space is now used, if at all, chiefly by business houses for coal holes."

Hotel at Elk Grove Burns; $15,000 Loss

ELK GROVE, July 27.—Fire starting in the Toronto hotel at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon destroyed the hotel, a soft drink parlor and barber shop owned by H. L. Ehrhardt and for a time threatened the entire town. The loss will not exceed $15,000. The origin of the blaze has not been determined.

The smallest baby at birth known, weighed 1 ounce.

Why Castoria?

YEARS ago Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups were the remedies in common use for Infants and Children; Castor Oil so nauseating as to be almost impossible and the others all containing Opium in one form or another, but so disguised as to make them pleasant to the taste, yet really to stupefy the child and give the appearance of relief from pain.

It required years of research to find a purely vegetable combination that would take the place of these disagreeable, unpleasant and vicious remedies that from habit had become almost universal. This was the inception of, and the reason for, the introduction of Fletcher's Castoria, and for over 30 years it has proven its worth, received the praise of Physicians everywhere and become a household word among mothers.

A remedy SPECIALLY prepared for Infants and Children and no mother would think of giving to her baby a remedy that she would use for herself, without consulting a physician.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Dr. H. W. Fletcher

What's Happening in the Motor World

By Jim Roultan

What in many ways may be considered one of the most remarkable pieces of prolonged and almost sustained cross-country driving so far placed on the record books, has been completed by Ray F. McNamara, road engineer of the Maxwell Motor Corporation, newspaper writer on matters pertaining to the automobile, and the man who is said to have seen thousands of miles of good, bad and indifferent roadways fly under him in his 20 years in the industry.

In this, his latest achievement, which carried him 6145 miles closer to the million mark, and a report of which has been received by the U. S. Dept. of Motor Co., McNamara piloted a Maxwell touring car, standard in every detail, from Detroit to Los Angeles and return in 17 1/2 days, driving every foot of the distance himself, carrying no mechanic.

Leaving Detroit on June 13, McNamara maintained a reasonably even pace over the varied roads which stretch across the plains, deserts and mountains of the south-west, to the Pacific, returning via the equally multifarious course of the Lincoln highway. Daily mileage of course fluctuated with the road and climatic conditions, but an average of 351.31 miles per day was attained for the entire journey.

Heat and cold, too, were evidently met with unvarying success. In the northwest, on June 20, during the 351 mile run from El Paso, Arizona, to Needles, California, McNamara reports that the thermometer clung to the 114 degree mark for many hours, but despite the torrid temperature, only 6

HEADS HUNTED BY NATIVES TO INSURE CROPS

RANGOON, June 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—Ignacio J. Paderewski has decided definitely that his country is unwilling to accept his political services, it was learned yesterday. He will return to the United States in November to fill several concert engagements.

Paderewski has done no professional work for five years. During this time he has been absorbed in patriotic efforts in Poland, at Geneva as Polish representative at the league of nations, and in America. He left today for his chalet at Morjes on Lake Geneva, Switzerland.

The former Polish premier does not disguise his feelings on the Polish situation. He shows great sorrow for the condition of his country. His friends have endeavored to point out to him that he is the most distinguished citizen in Poland, that he ought to be able to serve his native land, especially in foreign affairs. Paderewski told his friends that the majority did not think that he could serve Poland. He was returning to his art.

Notary Bay derived its name from the large number of new plants found in its vicinity.

Leaving Needles, the boiling point of America, at 5 a. m. the following day with the thermometer touching 36 degrees even at that early hour, he again reports the need of only 2 quarts of water after the day's journey across the coarse sand trail of the great Mojave desert.

No tire blowouts or injuries to castings marred the journey, the original set traveling the full distance, which may be considered as exceptional in view of the speed maintained over all types of roadways, and under all temperatures.

Presbyterians Urge $30,000,000 in Fund

PASADENA, July 27.—The synod of the Presbyterian church of California, which has been in session here for the past week, yesterday unanimously adopted three resolutions to be put before the general synod of the church, and which were reported by delegates to be the pioneer action along the indicated lines, and the first definite declaration by any state synod. The recommendations were: That an endowment fund of $30,000,000 be raised for the support of the Ministerial Relief and Sustentation Board of Philadelphia.

That the minimum pension for Presbyterian ministers on the honor roll be $1000 per annum.

That an addition of three representative women be made to the present membership of the board for ministerial relief and sustentation. The board does not include women at present.

Suit Against Pole Line Right of Way

MARTINEZ, July 27.—Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie today ordered set aside a judgment granting a pole line right of way to the Pacific Gas and Electric company through the property of Maria Domingos and set the cause for trial on August 2. A default judgment in a condemnation suit had been entered in favor of the electric company. Mrs. Domingos appeared before Judge McKenzie, declaring she did not understand the purport of papers served on her and asserting she desired to contest the suit. Mrs. Domingos' property is located near the Alameda-Contra Costa highway tunnel.

CHAPTER 39.

The Mail Robber.

United States mail trains and postoffices were looted of valuables worth $10,000,000 in 1921, according to statistics just compiled. A total of twenty-nine such crimes were reported. The largest amount, $3,000,000, was taken in a New York robbery in October.

The second largest robbery in point of loss was that at Dallas, Tex., January 12, when the postoffice was robbed of $2,504,000. A few weeks later, in Toledo, bandits secured $1,600,000 in loot, while on March 5 Los Angeles suffered a million dollar loss and the criminals escaped.

At Mount Vernon, Ill., $80,000 in mail sacks was taken; at St. Joseph, Mo., $25,000; at Oakland, Cal., three masked men secured $50,000 from a mail truck; in January Chicago lost $100,000 to four masked thugs, who looted a registered mail car in April of the same year, five bandits realized $500,000 from the same source; and it was on April 9, following the demonstrations, that the federal government issued orders for guarding the mails.

Even after the mail trains were placed on guard the mail bandits succeeded in looting trains at San Francisco, Chicago, New York, Washington, D. C. (when diplomatic mail was stolen), Houston, Memphis, Pittsburgh, Syracuse, Detroit and New York. At Detroit twenty-six mail pouches containing bank currency were taken; in October at New York three armed men held up a mail truck on Broadway and secured securities of $3,000,000. While in San Francisco a postal clerk was killed and two sub-postoffices were looted. In one Chicago holdup the bandits fooled the spectators into thinking that it was a "movie stunt" until an officer appeared and was fired on.

Postal robbers operate in small groups, ranging, as a rule, from two to five. They are the mail robbers, the highest type in this criminal classification. They are fearless, many of them are intelligent and educated and they dress well. Many robbers are better than the average business man.

Mail robber gangs are close corporations. Only tried and hardened criminals are admitted. The outlaws will associate with no strangers, they do not frequent the joints patronized by the "piker" or small-time thieves, and in some cases they have a legitimate occupation as a cover. Frequently the gang members have "done time" together. They have suffered the dungeon punishment and they know the meaning of hard labor on the rock pile.

If a gangster has a girl, and generally he does, she is kept in ignorance as to his work. She may wonder where all the money comes from, but she never asks questions. It is a punishable offense in crookdom to ask questions.

The "spotter" for the gang will "spot a lay" when he thinks there is a good haul. If it is a postoffice, he learns how many clerks there are, how the place is guarded, where the trucks come and go and at what time the "picks" are made. He lays all this information before his associates and a time and date is fixed for the robbery. If they are going to rob it "cold," one of the gang "closes it up" (watches until it is deserted). Then the robbers either rush down on the place in a car, break in and a couple will loot the postoffice mail sacks while the others fight off anyone who would interfere.

Gloves are worn to avoid leaving finger prints.

They then escape as rapidly as possible.

After committing a robbery, the thug immediately gets rid of all loot that may be identified. Money, of course, he can spend at once, and he does, by engaging in a wild orgy of celebrating or by going into a long session of gambling.

Robbers profit nothing by their gains. They need the money as quickly as they get it and are soon asking loans from their friends.

The disposal of bonds and other securities is more difficult. Many times the robber is captured while trying to sell stolen goods. The description of which has been sent broadcast.

Bandits do not always flee from a city after committing crime. Sometimes they merely drive quietly to their homes, and lay low. In instances robbers will not stay in a city where they have pulled a job for over an hour. They make it their business never to be seen there. They live in an adjacent town. The spotter who hangs around the "prospector" does not go with them when the deed is committed. When the time comes they dash in quickly and then dash out again.

Listen, World!

THERE are two axioms which it is well to remember concerning jealousy.

There's no sense in being jealous before your loved one's interest strays.

There's no sense in being jealous after your loved one's interest strays.

Jealousy is just so much carbon in your cylinders at any time. It wastes your strength, muddles your aim, slackens your speed. It never helps a bad situation and it may hopelessly wreck a fairly hopeful one. Primarily it's bad because it violates a fundamental law—which is that you don't own anyone else, no matter how dear they may be to you, nor do they own you.

Jealousy bucks that law. Jealousy disregards the right of every human to his own life just as much as he has the right to his own body, and it is nearly as dangerous an urge. Yet because we're wrapped in the vital truths concerning love, we refuse to so regard jealousy and, indeed, almost sanctify the hideous thing. Take the case of the Millards, for instance.

Constance Millard had just lost her husband by divorce, and she began losing him the day they were married. Does she love him? Madly. But partly through ignorance and partly through obstinacy, she refused to recognize that fundamental law of individual freedom in her love. She believed that she owned Harry. She felt that all that he did, all those he knew, all he thought or planned, should be open to her inspection, and if necessary her criticism. From the day they were engaged she put this theory into practice—with the result that Harry grew to feel that he was a fly on a pin. And now they're divorced. Not because they were faithless, not because any third party broke up their home, but simply because Jealousy, rooted in selfishness, grew like a foul weed until all the flowers were killed.

Only one attitude will hold your loved one or bring him or her back to you, if he or she has strayed. Fairness, courtesy, humor, complete recognition of the other's right to live. If that won't do him nothing will, and it's doubtful if he's worth trying. Jealousy may force his body to stay in the love nest, but you will have lost touch with the spirit—and nothing else is of any value.

I think the following letter strikes at the root of the married school teacher problem. Has a woman a right to teach or do other work after she is married? She most certainly has. Does her doing so constitute an injustice to the unmarried worker? No. Is she as bright, if not brighter, than the unmarried worker? Yes. In all probability. BUT—CAN SHE CARRY TWO JOBS AND DO FULL JUSTICE TO EITHER? No. I do not think she can. She is a young woman, healthy and energetic, she undoubtedly can. But let her home cares multiply, and she will inevitably be less nervously fit to assume the school room duties.

Dear Jerry:

The question of the school teachers interests me.

I used to teach high school—taught four years before my marriage. I loved it, and loved the children, and I loved my mother. I am sure, because of that experience, if I should go back to teaching now, I should be seven years behind the times, as far as textbooks and methods go. To be sure, they still prove propositions in geometry in the same way, or if they don't I believe my mind could grasp new methods. But the fact remains that for seven years I have been out of touch with the work of the school room. I am not in the least inclined to turn my family over to a housekeeper, that I may go back into the ranks of a teacher. The extra money would be very welcome, and the change from housework might also seem good to me. But from memory of the nights when I went home, brain-tired, and having children, and out of touch with the work of the school room, I am not intending to teach again. I think it is a mistake. My idea is to know the teachers of my children, and to show them that I am ready to co-operate in every way possible, and that I consider the school life of my children very important, and their teachers the biggest factor in their lives.

Still speaking from experience, I think my understanding of child nature is not as great now as it was in my days of teaching. I do feel that the four years I spent in the school has been a wonderful help to me in my home. It helps me to appreciate my own children, after having known hundreds of all ages and characteristics of others. I used to feel that the children did not have the right attention at home, in so many cases. I soon found out that the ones who were rather slow and backward, and it was so delightful giving them extra help, and seeing how quickly they responded to the personal interest. No, I can't feel that it is necessary to give children to understand children in the school.

In engaging a teacher, I do not think the question of her being married or unmarried, young or old, should enter into consideration.

Answer tomorrow.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S.

Miss Bo-Peep must have had eight sheep. Eight posts arranged in a square would contain the same area as ten posts arranged in an oblong—of course, assuming that the posts in both cases were set at uniform distance apart.

JEALOUSY

He open to her inspection, and if necessary her criticism. From the day they were engaged she put this theory into practice—with the result that Harry grew to feel that he was a fly on a pin. And now they're divorced. Not because they were faithless, not because any third party broke up their home, but simply because Jealousy, rooted in selfishness, grew like a foul weed until all the flowers were killed.

Only one attitude will hold your loved one or bring him or her back to you, if he or she has strayed. Fairness, courtesy, humor, complete recognition of the other's right to live. If that won't do him nothing will, and it's doubtful if he's worth trying. Jealousy may force his body to stay in the love nest, but you will have lost touch with the spirit—and nothing else is of any value.

ONE MOTHER.

Here's something for you to roll over in your mind. A teacher should be a friend—not the kind of friend a grown-up thinks children need, BUT THE KIND THE CHILDREN WANT. If only we'd trust the children more! If we'd give over this idiotic theory that children are fuzzy, wobbly thinkers. THEY'RE NOT. Given sane, wholesome treatment, AND ALLOWED TO assume THIS RESPONSIBILITY, children will amaze you with their sanity and perception. WE are the ones who wobble and fuff—WE are the ones who can't make up our minds—WE are the ones who make a fuss. Children don't think "baby thoughts" merely because they inhabit small, tender bodies. They think thoughts admirably adapted to their needs, and of a sound and convincing logic if you will stop and listen. THEY KNOW WHAT THEY WANT and their wants are often much more sensible than ours.

Friend Geraldine:

Concerning school teachers, it makes no difference whether they are married, single, young or old, so long as they can be friends of the children. Not the kind of friends a grown-up thinks children need, but the kind the children want.

Neither do clothes make much difference, because most children get more of an impression from a kindly interest than they do from clothes.

Your practical, pointed ideas have greatly interested me, although I have never written you a line. Mutual frankness in married life is to me the solution of many of the problems.

Only one question should be needed to bind or break an engagement. Does either party hold that there is a good reason for the past stands in the way of marriage? If it does there should be no marriage.

Seeing that love and money are so often antagonistic, there should be a clear business partnership in every marriage.

There is an old epigram which is very sensible, "In essentials, unity; in non-essentials, charity." IF A TALENTED WOMAN CAN EARN MORE THAN ENOUGH TO HIRE A COOK, HOUSEKEEPER OR EVEN NURSE, I BELIEVE SHE SHOULD DO IT.

THE HOUSEKEEPING "RELIGION" WILL SOME DAY BE DONE FOR. A NEIGHBORHOOD CAFETERIA WOULD FEED A HALF BLOCK OF PEOPLE AT HALF THE COST, AND MORE HEALTHY FOR ALL THAN SEPARATE COOKS, ETC. IN AS MANY HOMES. WHY SHOULD WOMEN WEAR HERSELVES OUT IN A WEEK'S WASHING WHEN SHE COULD EARN IN THE SAME LENGTH OF TIME TWICE AS MUCH AS THE LAUNDRESS WOULD CHARGE FOR THE SAME WASHING IN THE SAME LENGTH OF TIME?

A really sensible couple should first agree as to what part of the home each is to be responsible for and each one should be allowed to choose their own method of providing the same.

Your remarks today about the flapper being independent pleased me very much.

The sooner a girl becomes both physically and mentally able to care for herself the sooner men will begin to treat her as a woman to marry.

That is enough for the present.

Yours truly,

W. M. E. CLARK.

Dull

He's dull—
Some folks say—stupid—
He takes life rather seriously—
Doesn't giggle much—
If you tell him a story—
He listens attentively—
If he laughs at all—
He smiles with his eyes—
And you go away from him—
Feeling a little cheap—
Knowing that your borrowed humor—
Did not hit his bull's eye—
Of appreciation—
And because he didn't respond to your joke—
That you heard someone else—
Spring on someone else—
Who heard someone else—
Spring it on someone else—
He is stupid—
For he has killed your enthusiasm—
In a very pungent joke—
So you scratch his name off your joke list—
If he knew you had—
He wouldn't care—
He walks rather slowly—
Sometimes ungracefully—
He often stops to look in windows—
Noting standard goods appraisingly—
He listens in patience—
To the man on the soap box—
And notes the half-crazed look in his eyes—
He lights his pipe and walks away—
Without comment—of any kind—
His opinions are his closest friends—
The fakir on the sidewalk—
Is no friend of his—
He gives little heed to tricky harangues—
Of street corner men—
Who have something to sell—
He buys only durable time-tested articles—
If the fire engine goes clanging by—
He pays little heed—
It's a fireman's business to go to fires—
His not hinder—
By rattle-brained curiosity—
He takes no delight in the misfortune of others—
If he likes you he is not effusive—
But you will know—
His clothes are not the latest—
And never conspicuous—
You will know him if you meet him—
He may be dull—and is—
He will never sparkle—
Nor does he try to—
He has millions of prototypes—
In every walk of serious life—
He is the balance wheel of the world.

Child's History of the HUMAN RACE by RAYMOND CUFFINER

Discovered by a Princess

CHAPTER 110

THE God of the sea (old Poseidon) was still angry toward Odysseus. Just when the latter saw an island in the distance, a storm was whipped up and the raft was wrecked. It might have gone ill with the hero if a nymph had not come to his aid, giving him a magic girdle to keep him afloat.

Odysseus (at the right) is asking the king and queen to give him aid.

and causing him to move to the shore. He reached the island in safety and was so happy to be again on firm ground that he kissed the earth. He was very tired, so he gathered some leaves for a bed, and threw himself down to sleep.

A princess coming near with some maidens of her court awakened the stranger and invited him to come to the palace. She admired his manly figure, and thought he should be treated well. Near the palace, however, she left his side because she feared people would talk about rich foods were set before him.

By and by a blind bard sang of Troy and the wooden horse. The eyes of Odysseus filled with tears, being asked why the song made him sad, he told how he himself had taken part in that famous siege.

Everyone on the island continued to be good to him. He was given presents of many kinds, and the king fitted out a ship for him to use in sailing home to Ithaca, the island near Greece over which Odysseus had once ruled.

NEW HUSBANDS FOR OLD.

"The woman regained consciousness at the hospital and sent for her former husband."

That's what the little article about a woman who had once been beautiful and rich and popular.

They found her in her hotel room the other day unconscious and all her jewels were gone and all her pretty clothes were gone, too, and she had sat at her desk writing letters of good-bye for hours and then she tore them all up and tried to go away from all the trouble and the anxiety without even a word to anyone.

But the drug she took was not strong enough and they found her before it was too late.

And the first thing she did when she came to herself was to speak the name of the man she divorced ten long years ago.

AN AGONIZING WORD.

How bitter she was when she divorced him! She hated everyone who wouldn't side with her in every little particular.

She said the husband was heartless and cruel, and stingy and jealous, and exacting and mean-spirited. Oh, there was hardly a thing she didn't find to say! And now, when every one else has deserted her, this man she abused with such a torrent of words has gone to her bedside to try to help her and help her back to life and hope and some semblance of happiness again.

"Her former husband," I wonder how often the woman who has a "former husband" wishes there was no such word as "former."

I met a woman the other day in a smart cafe, at a smart hotel and she was exquisitely dressed and beautifully groomed, and we sat down and had a bite of luncheon together and while we sat there

Curried Peas with Rice.

Pour a can of tomatoes into a saucepan and add to them a sliced onion, half a cupful of chopped celery, a chopped pepper, a sliced bit of garlic, a slice of bacon, a tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a level teaspoonful of curry powder, salt, pepper and two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Slew gently for thirty-five minutes, then strain, put in a clean stew-pan and thicken slightly with flour and butter mixed to a paste, then set aside.

Open and drain a large can of peas, add to the curried peas, and stew for five minutes, drain, and add enough of the curried sauce to moisten the peas. Put the rice in a hot dish and place the curried mixture in the center like a nest. The curried is best when made in the morning, and afterward warmed up, as it is then thoroughly flavored.

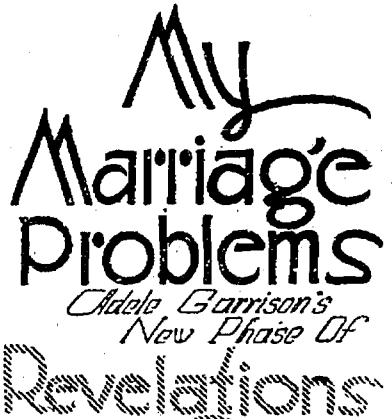

Baked Eggplant.

Select one large, firm eggplant and pare it with a sharp knife, then chop it fine. Butter a deep baking-dish and dust it with fine crumbs, put a layer of eggplant on the bottom, then a layer of sliced tomatoes, dot with butter, dust with pepper and salt and a tablespoonful of sugar, and sprinkle with chopped onion and pepper. Smear down a thin layer of crumbs. Begin again with the eggplant and repeat the process until all is used, making the crumbs the top layer. Dot with butter, dust with pepper, salt and sugar, then turn in a cupful of tomato juice and bake. Cheese may be used on top if desired.

Chadwick Garrison's New Phase Of Revelations of a Wife

TITLE "HUNCH" THAT LILLIAN HAD.

Lillian hesitated oddly, as, after our tea, I gave her the opportunity to tell me the thing she had wished me to know.

"It's just this," she said at last, patently half ashamed of what she was going to ask me. "Did you by any chance bring your badge with you?"

I knew instantly what she meant, of course. It was the only badge I ever had worn, the little piece of metal which had given me rank during the world war as Lillian's assistant in the important secret work she was doing for the government. Lillian still held an important place in the service, but with an arrangement by which she was only called on for aid when some piece of work which called for her special talents was on foot. So far as work went I had no place at all, but Lillian, by virtue of my own influence, had managed things so that I was still on the reserve list and had kept my badge. But I had done no work since the war ended.

"No, I didn't," I replied. "It is in my safety deposit box at the bank."

"Good place for it," Lillian commented. "I could not tell from her tone whether she approved or disapproved my caution. "But it doesn't matter," she added. "I have my badge with me, and as long as you're still on the rolls in good standing, I can lend it you. I want you to wear it when you go on that fool fishing trip tonight."

I suppose my face looked startled, but I did not wish to voice, for Lillian suddenly laughed.

CLEAR REASONS.

"I don't blame you for that startled-frown expression," she said. "I don't know, myself, whether I'm getting feeble-minded, or unusually sagacious. But I've got one of those hunches, at least a fraction of one, that you'd be better off if you had that badge with you in case of an emergency. And yet I haven't anything to go on—except my hunch."

She paused, as if weighing and sifting the ingredients of her hunch while I mentally sat up and took notice. Many years of close association with Lillian had taught me to regard her hunches with awe and respect, to consider them almost clairvoyant.

"I won't be betraying any confidence," she said, "if I tell you that whenever there is a thing about her temperature ought to have risen long ago—over certain sinister undercurrents in the sea which the ship of state is sailing under—certainly have been unknown and uncharted all too long. They are beginning to chart them, and I should imagine—though I don't happen to know that—some night visits to a big dirigible-water supply like the dam. Of course, the natives like Tom Cosgrove, could fish there at night a hundred years ago, but any other way, the natives know it, and no doubt close their eyes ninety-nine times out of a hundred. But every so often there's a spasm of virtuous investigation, every one's caught in the same net. I'm positive that fishing at night is forbidden there—did you see and hear Tom when he was asked that question?"

I nodded with a vivid remembrance of the big man's humorous embarrassed evasion of the query.

"So on the whole I think it's as well you should have my badge," she continued. "I may have to go some to explain the fishing end of it, but claim Tom as your uncle or something like that and say you wanted to see the dam by night in other words, take a night visit. Let's talk of something else. How's everything at home?"

It was an idle question, but I set me to thinking of something I had put out of my mind, something which I had not told Lillian because we so far had kept everything disagreeable from her knowledge. But a sudden impulse made me tell her of Dick's new behavior, and of Mother Graham's demand that I come home and straighten her out.

"I would have gone for a day or two, at least. I finished, but Dick wouldn't let me. He said, 'I stopped, flushing with a sudden remembrance of the reason why Dicky objected to my going.'"

"I don't blame him," Lillian said, ignoring the dash in the sentence. "His place I wouldn't be left unguarded to the tender mercies of that would-be man-eater that's prowling through this compound."

She glanced at my face, laughed softly.

"Don't look so conscience-stricken, child," she said. "You haven't given anything away. A child could see the dead set Bess Dean is making for the Dicky-bird. He's the way he is flustering away from her. But this Katie matter is something else again. Of course you can't leave her till Bess Dean goes, but as soon as she does I'd venture down there for a day or two. And if you don't mind, I'd like to go with you."

Note.—In the above tabulation of tides the 11y tides are given in the order of their occurrence, commencing with the early morning tide in the left-hand column and the succeeding tides as they occur. On some days at three tides occur, the fourth occurring at a following morning.

The columns of heights gives the elevation each tide above the place of Coast Survey Chart Soundings. The numbers are always additive to the chart depths, unless preceded by the minus sign or dash (—).

CAMPING PARTY WILL PAY VISIT TO REDWOODS

Scots Plan to Send Delegation to Park Site; Meeting for Tomorrow Night.

Another week-end campaign party has been arranged as part of the Save-Oakland's-Redwoods campaign, which will come to a climax on August 29, when the citizens vote on a bond issue of some $538,000 to be used for the purchase of 1500 acres of park lands, embracing the famous sequoias of Redwood Park.

The local Scots are planning to send a delegation of their members to the camp.

The Contra Costa Hills club has invited Sierra and Alpine club members and will act as guides to the visitors. Many improvement clubs will also be represented in the overnight camp.

Dr. C. A. Wherry, chairman of the Scots Luncheon Club, spoke before the "Save-Oakland's-Redwoods" campaign committee, meeting in the Elcom building.

A committee headed by Sam Gold and comprising John Dowles Jr. and several others will arrange the overnight camping party of the Scots.

The support of the colored citizens of Oakland is promised by Clifford E. Ware, real estate dealer and one of the proprietors of the California Voice.

George Keyes suggested that a "Save-Oakland's-Redwoods" Sunday be inaugurated in all Oakland churches. He suggested that one Sunday be set aside for talks in the churches on this subject. The idea was seized upon, and a committee consisting of Col. Leon Francis of the Glenview Improvement club, Charles F. Bush, George Keyes, Edgar S. Hurley was appointed. John Gelder was asked to arrange for the program of talks.

A suggestion by Charles Warner that all the Oakland luncheon clubs be invited to visit the redwoods was adopted. The organizations will be asked to enjoy a basket luncheon one day during the campaign in the redwoods.

Warner called attention to the initial meeting called for tomorrow night in the TRIBUNE assembly hall, Franklin street entrance, to discuss the plan to form the nucleus of a great chorus to carry the message of the redwoods by song. Every hiking club and the citizens are asked to be present at the meeting. The meeting will be called to order at 7:30 o'clock.

Static During Week

Long-Distance Bar

Static interference has hindered the reception of long-distance radio signals and has even hindered the proper interception of the signals around the bay district during the past week, according to reports from many radiophone operators. Weather conditions for radiophone work will undoubtedly improve with the coming of fall weather, and interest in long-distance reception is expected to increase during the winter months, when conditions will be extremely favorable.

Noted Musicians To Appear On Program

Mrs. Saul Wagner, cellist and manager of the Wagner Orchestra Club, accompanied by Professor Sigismundo Martinez, will head the program to be broadcast from Hale's KFO, tomorrow afternoon on the time of KZY, the Atlantic-Pacific Company. Others who will contribute to the program include Antonio de Alby, tenor; Mme. Edith Andreotti, pianist; Mrs. Gladys Harnden, vocalist; Miss Elizabeth Story, violinist, and Miss Ida Margueles, pianist.

Mr. Buyer, what service comes with your car? I give 90 days free. All salesrooms look good, and salesmen are fluent talkers, but after you have made your purchase your interest is in the service department, and talk does not keep a car going. Before buying, insist on visiting the service department to see—first, if dealer really has one, next, if properly equipped. Sees Own Epitaph
For Forty Years
Before His Death

RAVENNA, W. Va., July 27.—John Bergen is dead after viewing his epitaph on the Cleveland Soldiers' monument for forty years. Bergen, who served through the Civil war with the Union army, was shot through the head in one of the later battles of the war. He was left on the field as dead and was reported to the war department as having been killed in action. He finally recovered, but it was years later that his friends discovered he was alive.

He returned to Ohio, but meantime his name was entered on the memorial shaft in Cleveland as one of the martyred dead, and has remained there for forty years.

Bergen read the epitaph, he said, on each occasion that he visited Cleveland, and enjoyed telling the story of its existence.

Johnson accomplished the feat in 20 4-5 seconds, one-fifth of a second faster than the former record, made here in 1921 by Fred Lowery, also of Oklahoma.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Cooperation of the government in advancing the American radio industry was pledged to the National Radio Chamber of Commerce at its organization meeting here yesterday by Secretary Hoover. Hoover was prevented by pressure of official business from being present and delegated Dr. Louis Du Plessis Clement of Philadelphia to act for him.

W. H. Davis, an attorney of Washington, D. C., was elected the first president of the new body.

No one knows better than mother what gladdens the heart of her little miss. To get a playsuit roomy enough and wear-proof, yet dapper and dressy, was no easy matter—until Kute Kuts came. Now mother, in tune with daughter, is glad to sing the praises of these rollicking playsuits.

Kute Kuts are the only playsuits with the wide Dutch peg that makes youngsters look so cunning. The high curved waistband, with tiny pleats front and back, handy patch pockets, narrow red piping, shiny metal buttons, strong, last-long fabrics with "every stitch guaranteed"—these make Kute Kuts the favorite of youngsters today. Yes—and the favorite of mothers who know what they would have liked to have had when they were girls at play.

Fifteen Minutes

LESSON NO. 117.
The Reception of Continuous Waves.

(Copyright by Edward M. Davis.)
(All rights reserved by United Feature Syndicate. Reproduction prohibited.)

The previous article pointed out the reason why a detector is necessary for the reception of radio telephone or spark signals, while such a device is useless for continuous wave telegraphy or picking up the "carrier wave" of radio telephone stations. Such signals as these are made up only of radio frequency oscillations without the superimposed audio frequency component. It is therefore necessary to break up the incoming oscillations into groups occurring at an audible frequency.

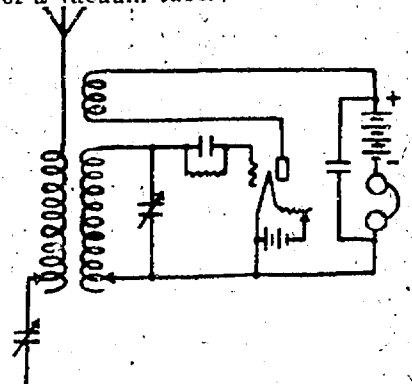

One way of producing these groups at audio frequency is by means of the slipping contact detector. This device consists of a metal wheel mounted on a motor shaft with two brushes touching it very lightly. When the wheel or disk is rotated at high speed the circuit through the brushes is of varying resistance, due to the poor contact, with the result that a mushy note is heard when receiving the signals from continuous wave telegraph stations. Such a device would give a continuous "mush" in the vicinity of a radio-telephone station when in operation.

DISK DIVIDED.

Another form of interrupter detector has the periphery of the disk divided into alternate segments of conductor and insulator, so that the tone in the receivers is dependent upon the number of segments and the speed of rotation of the disk. A buzzer may also be fitted with contacts for interrupting the receiving circuit at an audible frequency.

The most efficient way to receive signals from a continuous wave transmitter is by means of the vacuum tube when connected in an oscillating circuit of a receiver. By this means a local radio frequency is generated which differs from the incoming frequency by an amount which is an audible. When the two frequencies are combined in the receiving circuits a beat note is produced which is the difference between the two. This system, which is commonly known as the heterodyne, was developed by Fessenden and constitutes a very flexible arrangement for the reception of continuous wave signals as well as a very efficient arrangement for the locally generated radio frequency oscillations may be created in several ways. An oscillating circuit may be coupled to the receiving circuit, employing the ordinary detector, or the arc may be replaced with a more dependable source of oscillations in the form of a vacuum tube.

A more common way of generating locally a radio frequency current is to couple the plate circuit of detector tube back to the grid circuit and increasing the coupling until oscillations occur. In this way the three important features of the vacuum tube are all employed to advantage in the same tube, which serves at once as a detector, generator and amplifier of radio frequency currents.

In the reception of signals from radio telephone stations the most efficient arrangement of the circuit is obtained when the tube is oscillating at the same frequency as the incoming signal (at zero beat), under which conditions an increase or decrease in either the inductance or capacity of either circuit will produce an audible beat frequency. Most regenerative receivers will

HAMMOND NAMED
ON CIVIL SERVICE
BODY BY COUNCIL

Auto Company Manager Is Selected to Succeed Late Walter Hesse.

Bennett W. Hammond, former president of the Alameda County Auto Trade Association, was named as a civil service commissioner for the city of Oakland today by the city council, vice the late Walter J. Hesse. Hesse was an associate with Hammond for many years in the auto industry. The appointment of Hammond fills a vacancy which has lasted six months, or since Hesse's death, and fills the civil service board to the requisite three members.

The new civil service commissioner is a mechanical and electrical engineer, fifteen years a resident of Oakland, a Mason and Oakland manager for the Franklin Motor Car Company of Northern California, of which he is also an officer and director. He is a native of New York.

Since the death of Walter J. Hesse, the civil service board has worked with but two members, John F. Chambers and Sophus Nelson, deciding many cases, including the long-fought Petersen case. The new commissioner takes office when the civil service board has practically a clean slate so far as business is concerned, and will learn the duties of his office with minor cases, until larger matters crop up.

Since the feed back is increased gradually, so that this form of receiver is very popular, since it is readily adaptable to both spark and continuous wave reception.
